INTRODUCTION

Welcome to the Arctic Coast Way. This touring route takes you off the beaten track to the coastal landscapes in North Iceland close to the Arctic Circle. Get inspired by the wonders of the route and familiarize yourself with the spirit of the Arctic Coast Way.

The Arctic Coast Way in Iceland's far North captivates you along 900 km of road with its rugged, untouched nature, and takes you through vast otherworldly landscapes between sea and mountains.

It connects you to its authentic coastal villages and people, whose stories and culture are shaped by life on the edge, so close to the Arctic Circle. It surprises you with its ever-changing moods of remote tranquillity, vibrant energy and magical light all year round. You are set free to slow down, and discover a different way of life. You will leave uplifted, refreshed, fulfilled with unique memories of this awe-inspiring place.

Arrive with time on your hands and enjoy a different rhythm of life!

The Arctic Coast Way leaves the much-travelled routes behind and guides visitors off the beaten track to explore the northern edge of Iceland, so close to the Arctic Circle.

The Arctic Coast Way invites tourists to become travellers and takes them on a journey in a spirit of adventure and exploration. Arctic Coast Way travellers will go further than most other tourists simply by leaving the ring road. Narrow and often gravelled roads ring six peninsulas; one is uninhabited, three have only a few farms and small settlements, offering endless space and a sense of freedom, tempting you to go “off the grid”.

The Arctic Coast Way is not just about driving but welcomes you to a route with stories and experiences round every bend or corner and over every hill. It inspires visitors to immerse themselves in the energy of elemental nature and to fill their days with all kinds of activities, ranging from soft adventure to personal challenges and observing outstanding wildlife habitats.

The Arctic Coast Way connects to a different way of life dominated by its relationship to the sea and its position so far North – from the early Viking period to present day fisheries and villages dotted along the coastline. Contrasts in daily life are apparent, from remote fishing villages to the Capital of the North and connect visitors to the spirit of people who value traditions while living to the pulse of modern times.

The Arctic Coast Way invites you to slow down and unwind. Those who are open to tasting a variety of experiences come alive when they step outside and feel elation at the stops in between their destinations –or unexpected breaks dictated by weather, which is such a powerful element in the region where the icy ocean meets volcanic land. They feel the freedom of breathing to the rhythm of waves and wind, and while away the time listening to stories told by the locals.

The Arctic Coast Way is never the same! Here are about 900 km waiting to be explored; the journey, however, is not measured in milestones but in unexpected moments that will make visitors wish to return again and again. The dramatic change in luminosity from midnight sun to northern lights and the seasonal palette of colours from pristine winter white to autumn’s blaze of hues offers visitors a new route every time with new adventures and a new story waiting for them.

CONSIDERATIONS FOR ORGANISING TOURS ALONG THE ARCTIC COAST WAY

The Arctic Coast Way differs from many other driving routes

Important considerations, especially for organising group tours are:

- 1 Off the beaten track is not a mere phrase, but a crucial fact. It re-quires attention and consideration as it leads to remote areas, sometimes with less infrastructure and challenging road and weather conditions. We recommend, therefore, travelling as self-driver or in small groups, with small buses, always 4WD vehicles and careful planning to allow yourselves plenty of time.
- 2 Arctic Coast Way offers many hotels along the entire route. But density differs in the regions. Charming accommodation in family-based guesthouses and on farms offers a good chance to meet the locals and observe their way of living.
- 3 As some of the areas are quite remote the infrastructure is not open all year round. But most of the providers are willing to open on request especially for groups. Please contact providers in advance when you plan a trip in off peak seasons.
- 4 We recommend local guides as they are familiar with weather and road conditions and can also tell the endless stories about how life is different up here, so close to the Arctic Circle.
- 5 The Arctic Coast Way project is in its initial stages and the period of development and improvement has just started. The infrastructure along the route will be continuously improved in the coming years.
- 6 Please follow these signs on your drive along the Arctic Coast Way.
- 7 The Arctic Coast Way goes off the beaten track to discover hidden gems. But it is easy to add some of the famous highlights of North Iceland. In Ásbyrgi and Húsavík it is easy to combine the Arctic Coast Way with the Diamond Circle with its highlights of Lake Mývatn and Dettifoss. After doing this extra loop, one can easily return to the Arctic Coast Way.
- 8 The Arctic Coast Way is developed as a long detour from Ring Road No.1 and can be included in a circle tour around Iceland. But we recommend considering a tour limiting yourself to North Iceland, including the entire Arctic Coast Way and all of the countless attractions, besides the Arctic Coast Way itself.

OPERATION RULES & BRAND GUIDELINES

Operation rules and brand guidelines have been established to help you understand the usage of the brand Arctic Coast Way. To preserve the quality of the brand for the benefit of all who trade under it, the brand Arctic Coast Way and its logo is a registered trademark.

All trades using the name of the Arctic Coast Way and its logo have to respect the operation rules and brand guidelines!

Operation rules are set up for Icelandic operators, incoming agencies and overseas operators who are not located along the Arctic Coast Way and do not meet the membership criteria.

PLEASE CONTACT US:

- if you need help planning your tour
- if you have questions about the usage of the Arctic Coast Way Brand
- to get the Brand Guidelines
- to get the logo
- to get free photos for your marketing

OPERATION RULES

Authentic Tours, which run under the name Arctic Coast Way and/or use the logo have to:

- include a substantial portion of the route of the Arctic Coast Way (see Day-Tours and Multiday-Tours)
- include a substantial portion of Arctic Coast Way products, services and experiences
- fulfil the brand values and promise of the Arctic Coast Way
- respect nature, wildlife and culture and encourage sustainable conduct
- have a qualified guide who can tell visitors about coastal landscapes and how nature and the ocean influenced life and culture close to the Arctic Circle

1. Day Tours

Day Tours have to include 75% of the road distance on the Arctic Coast Way.

2. Multiple Day Tours

Multiple Day Tours have to include 50% of the travel days on the defined route of the Arctic Coast Way.

Tours, that include parts of the Arctic Coast Way:

Multiple Day Tours that only include parts of the Arctic Coast Way and spend less than 50% of the travel days on the defined route, need to have at least two full days on the Arctic Coast Way route to be allowed to use the name and logo in the relevant day itineraries, but not in the title of the tour. Please ask Visit North Iceland for permission to use the logo.

Please take the Icelandic Pledge:
www.inspiredbyiceland.com/icelandicpledge/

TAKE THE ICELANDIC PLEDGE

The Arctic Coast Way welcomes its visitors to an unforgettable journey in the spirit of adventure and exploration and takes them through an unspoiled natural environment along the coast of North Iceland. In order to maintain the integrity of the route as adventure, but not as a danger, and to preserve the unspoiled natural beauty, we encourage our visitors, our partners and each business trading under the Arctic Coast Way logo to inform their customers about the Icelandic Pledge from Inspired by Iceland.

I PLEDGE TO BE A RESPONSIBLE TOURIST

WHEN I EXPLORE NEW PLACES, I WILL LEAVE THEM AS I FOUND THEM.

I WILL TAKE PHOTOS TO DIE FOR, WITHOUT DYING FOR THEM.

I WILL FOLLOW THE ROAD INTO THE UNKNOWN, BUT NEVER VENTURE OFF THE ROAD.

AND I WILL ONLY PARK WHERE I AM SUPPOSED TO.

WHEN I SLEEP OUT UNDER THE STARS, I'LL STAY WITHIN A CAMPSITE.

AND WHEN NATURE CALLS, I WON'T ANSWER THE CALL ON NATURE.

I WILL BE PREPARED FOR ALL WEATHERS, ALL POSSIBILITIES AND ALL ADVENTURES.

ROAD AND DRIVING CONDITIONS

Driving the Arctic Coast Way is different from what you might be used to. It is a real off the beaten track route that guides you through beautiful remote landscapes. This does not only mean leaving the crowd behind but going on a tour in the spirit of adventure and exploration. The conditions of the Arctic Coast Way, the roads, the weather, and remoteness, require you to make space for some extra time in your itinerary.

PLEASE CHECK
ROAD AND WEATHER CONDITIONS DURING YOUR TOUR ALONG THE ARCTIC COAST WAY ON:
SAFETRAVEL.IS
AND ON ROAD.IS

We recommend taking a 4WD vehicle. There are many gravel roads along the route and a 4WD vehicle offers better safety all year round.

DRIVING THE ARCTIC COAST WAY MEANS:

- Leaving the wide roads and following narrow roads through remote areas with less infrastructure.
- Leaving the paved roads and driving considerable distances on gravel roads (about 1/3 of the entire route).
- Please stay on the roads. Leaving the road means off-road driving, forbidden by law, incurring considerable fines to offenders. Help to protect sensitive moss and vegetation.

DISTANCES WITH GRAVEL ROADS ARE:

- Road 711/716/717 from Hvammstangi around Vatnsnes
- Road 745 from Skagaströnd around Skagi to road No. 744
- Detour on road 748 west side of Skagafjörður
- Road 835 through the Fnjóská valley north of Akureyri
- Road 870 around Melrakkaslétta
- Detour on road 869 on Langanes peninsula

ARCTIC COAST WAY IN SNOWY AND WINTER CONDITIONS:

In snowy conditions, several parts of the Arctic Coast Way only permit extremely limited access. As the name of the route indicates, it is close to the Arctic. Here in the far North snowfalls can occur between September and May. Always check daily weather and road conditions. When travelling in winter, make sure you have enough time and flexibility as weather conditions can be challenging and snowstorms or heavy snowfalls can even close the main roads which are usually cleared every day.

TOILET ACCESS ALONG THE ARCTIC COAST WAY

There is toilet access at a moderate distance all around the Arctic Coast Way. But the situation differs from what you might be used to in other countries. Toilets are mostly offered by private companies for their customers. You are welcome to use these toilets as long as you are a customer. Please respect this service and encourage your guests to respect it as well.

DISABILITY ACCESS ALONG THE ARCTIC COAST WAY

The Arctic Coast Way guides its visitors to untouched and remote nature, which is often hard to access for disabled persons. Along the paved roads there are many options to stop a bus and access a paved parking space to enjoy panoramic landscape views. But access to paved walking paths through attractive areas is unfortunately not yet on offer. Nevertheless, there are options for disabled persons to experience the Arctic Coast Way.

Please find this symbol in the overviews of Chapters 12, 15, 16 and 17 and contact the providers for detailed information.

MAP OF THE ROUTE & TRAVEL SECTIONS

With 900 km of route, the Arctic Coast Way offers a tour in the spirit of adventure and exploration and invites you to slow down and unwind.

Even though the best way is to experience the whole route you might need to decide which part of the route you take as there is so much to see and do along the Arctic Coast Way. It is broken into three zones, each with its own character and uniqueness.

COAST OF SAGAS AND MYTHOLOGY

The western part of the Arctic Coast Way is an area with an atmospheric coast and high mountains offering excellent habitats to discover Arctic Wildlife with seals and birds. Here Icelandic horses roam in a fertile land of stories, sagas, myths and histories.

COAST OF FISHING TOWNS AND HERITAGE

At the heart of the Arctic Coast Way is a coastline rich with culture and activities – the capital of North Iceland and a string of fishing towns, harbours and ports are linked by a breathtaking route of cliff roads, mountain tunnels, glacial river, ferries and bridges across fjords. This is the gateway to Grímsey Island and the Arctic Circle.

COAST OF ELEMENTAL NATURE

Leave the tourists behind and become a traveller through this compelling, mysterious landscape that changes dramatically with the seasons – from its summer residents and millions of birds to the emptiness, darkest skies and absolute silence of winter. Whenever you come you will find deep peace, solitude and contemplation inspired by distant views and the echoes and footprints of nature and history.

TRAVEL SEASONS

Besides summer, autumn, winter and spring are also ideal seasons to discover the attractions of Arctic Coast Way, each in its own distinctive fashion. But as snow may appear in early autumn (September, October), be a near-certainty in winter (November – March) and to be expected in springtime (April-May) you must be aware of challenging weather and road conditions and build flexibility into your schedule with some extra days. In snowy conditions, it is not possible to travel the entire Arctic Coast Way, but you can follow the winter route alternative! Please check out the map to the route for snowy weather on page 25.

Summer

Summer is the season of best road conditions and the entire route is accessible. This is also the season of high-est temperatures, although cold days may be expected as the route is close to the Arctic Circle. Most activities are available, except winter sports, and there may be limitations due to daily weather conditions. Many events and festivals occur in all towns along the route. As this is the main season, advance booking is required.

Autumn

Usually all roads remain open, but single days with snowy conditions may occur. The weather is often excellent, albeit with lower temperatures than in summer, but still with a lot of sun and long days to fill with activities and experiences. September brings in the season of the Northern Lights. Nature changes its colours and offers blueberries and mushrooms during hikes. Important cultural events such as the sheep round-ups dominate daily life in the countryside.

Winter

This is the season of challenging road and weather conditions, but nevertheless of great beauty and tranquillity. Travelling in the winter months requires careful planning and consideration of time. Winter is marked by diverse cultural experiences and you can enjoy excellent and traditional food around Christmas and New Year. As an extra bonus, it is also the high season for Northern Lights.

Spring

Usually, all roads are open, but unstable weather conditions can still bring temporary snow-falls and closed roads. The first fresh green vegetation is beginning to appear after the long winter frosts and the migrating birds are arriving. This is also the lambing season, the farmers' busiest time of year. The sun arrives and the days get longer at a rapid rate. Late winter (March) into spring is the main season for national and international skiers and many visitors enjoy the opportunity to tackle the white slopes in the light of the midnight sun.

OVERVIEW OF POINTS OF INTEREST

VIEWING THE MIDNIGHT SUN:

These locations offer some of the best views of the Midnight Sun. Some are accessible by car; others by walks and hikes.

NORTHERN LIGHT SPOTTING:

The viewpoints are reachable by car and selected with safety in mind. Caution; some of the best spots may be inaccessible in winter conditions.

LIGHTHOUSES:

There are 27 lighthouses along the Arctic Coast Way, nine of which are reachable either by car or by hiking.

BEACHES:

There are countless beaches along the Arctic Coast Way and some of them are accessible with parking options for the car.

SEA STACK FORMATIONS:

Focus on locations with spectacular rock shapes and contours along cliffs and out at sea. Hvítserkur on Vatnsnes is the most famous of those – and there are several more to discover.

REST AREAS:

These are accessible by car and offer parking options to leave the car, enjoy the views and take photos. Several are equipped with tables and benches for taking a picnic while viewing the ocean.

Points of Interest along the Arctic Coast Way

Along the entire route, you will find places which invite you to stop the car, take a break to enjoy landscapes and connect to the specific wonders of the Arctic Coast Way. These Points of Interest include different categories:

AUTHENTIC EXPERIENCES

The Arctic Coast Way brings unspoiled nature and interesting culture to its visitors in North Iceland, close to the Arctic Circle. There are countless activities and experiences where you can discover awe-inspiring landscapes and immerse yourself in a different way of life. But some experiences offer authentic activities and an unforgettable tour on the Arctic Coast Way.

Seaside bites and Icelandic cuisine

Meet other food lovers in this half-day workshop and taste and learn about Icelandic cuisine and its connection with Iceland's unique natural history. Your hosts share their expertise and teach you all about using natural and wild food and the raw ingredients that can be found in northern climes. They will explain how food, in bygone days, was preserved for the long winter and how modern Icelanders still use this traditional food with a modern twist.

Inga Elsa Bergþórsdóttir and Gísli Egill Hrafnsson, your hosts, are real all-rounders with a passion for Icelandic food culture and heritage, cooking, graphic design and photography. Their beautifully designed books on Icelandic food and food history have received excellent critiques and have been nominated for literary prizes in Iceland and abroad. Their latest book La Cuisine Scandinave was published in France, the Netherlands and Germany.

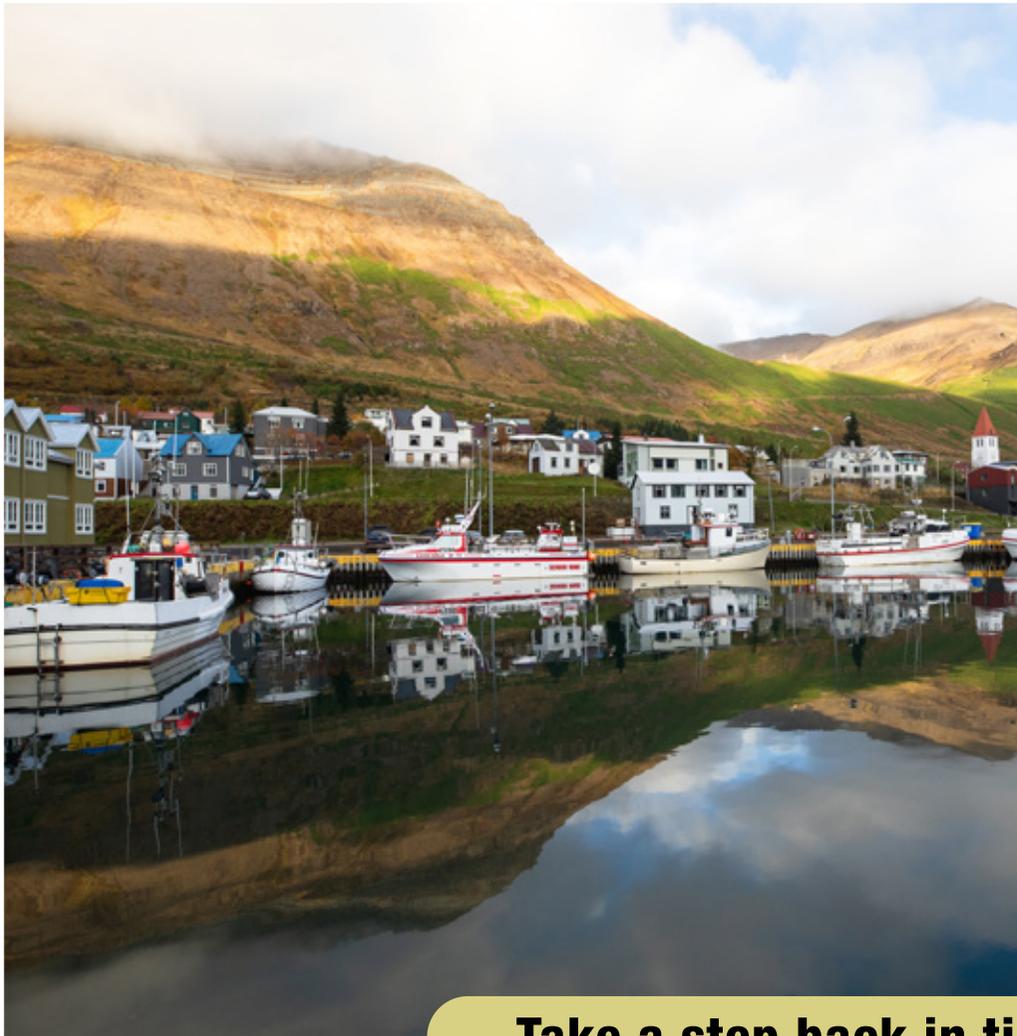

This exciting food tour starts at Brimslóð Atelier in Blönduós and makes a first stop at the small and sheltered cove of Selvík in Húnaflói, where seals can often be seen. Upon arrival on the beach, Inga and Gísli will cook and offer a taste of seafood prepared over open fire with various local ingredients. If conditions are right, seaweed will be collected, as well as seawater to be boiled down to make salt over open fire. The return journey features another stop to forage for more ingredients.

The next stop is at Brimslóð, Inga and Gísli's splendid guesthouse and restaurant beside the sea, with its magnificent views across the open North Atlantic Ocean to the Westfjords peninsula beyond. There, the group will round off the day, working together in the well-equipped kitchen to prepare a light three-course meal, using some of the ingredients gathered during the day and sourced from the Brimslóð garden.

Take a step back in time to the Herring Era

The Herring Era Museum is the country's largest maritime and industrial museum, where visitors have the opportunity to get to know the herring fishery and processing industry that underpinned Iceland's economy for much of the twentieth century. The herring industry was so important that it was seen as an adventure, as the country rose up from centuries of poverty to build a modern society.

Three different museum buildings provide visitors with an insight into the magnificent and captivating herring industry. The Róaldsbrakki is a Norwegian herring station dating back to 1907. Most of this building is as it was in the past, when herring girls lived in the building throughout the summer. Grána is an example of a small herring factory of the 1930s and visitors can see the workings of the reduction industry, which has long been seen as Iceland's first major industry. The Boathouse seeks to recreate a portion of a herring port, with the fleet alongside one evening in 1950 and allows visitors to mull over what it must have been like to walk the quaysides around the middle of the last century. By the end of the tour, our guide will offer a taste of herring, along with rye bread from the local baker – and a little Brennivín to wash it down with.

Arctic snorkelling with puffins

Puffins are often referred to as “clowns of the sea”, and one of the collective names for them is a “circus” of puffins, which seems appropriate. This eccentric species with their colourful bills is high on the wish-to-see list of most visitors to the Nordic countries. But on Grímsey Island, the only community in Iceland located on the Arctic Circle, you have the unique chance to witness the bustle and commotion of these agile little “clowns” not only in the air, but also under water, as they are perfect divers. Snorkelling in the ocean by the Arctic island is a unique adventure and – depending on the weather – you might even snorkel across the Arctic Circle! The ocean around Grímsey is crystal-clear and the aquatic surroundings of the island are full of life, with a great kelp forest on the bottom which is home to many different fish species such as cod, haddock, star fish, plaice and pollock. Whales are usually not far away either. Puffins are summer guests and the chance to encounter them is limited to the summer months from mid April to mid August.

From Cod to Baccalá

Learn first-hand all about salted cod that always played an important role in Icelandic culture, both as a product for export and a commodity that has become a popular ingredient in many cuisines around the Atlantic, West Africa and the Mediterranean. Join a group in our traditional Icelandic oak boat and sail out to the rich fishing grounds of Eyjafjörður near the village Hauganes. The guide will tell you all about fishing in olden and modern times. But then it is your turn to cast the lines and hook your own catch of Atlantic cod or haddock.

Soon the air will be filled with seagulls wanting to share your catch of the day. On the way out to the fishing grounds and back to the village we have a good chance of spotting whales.

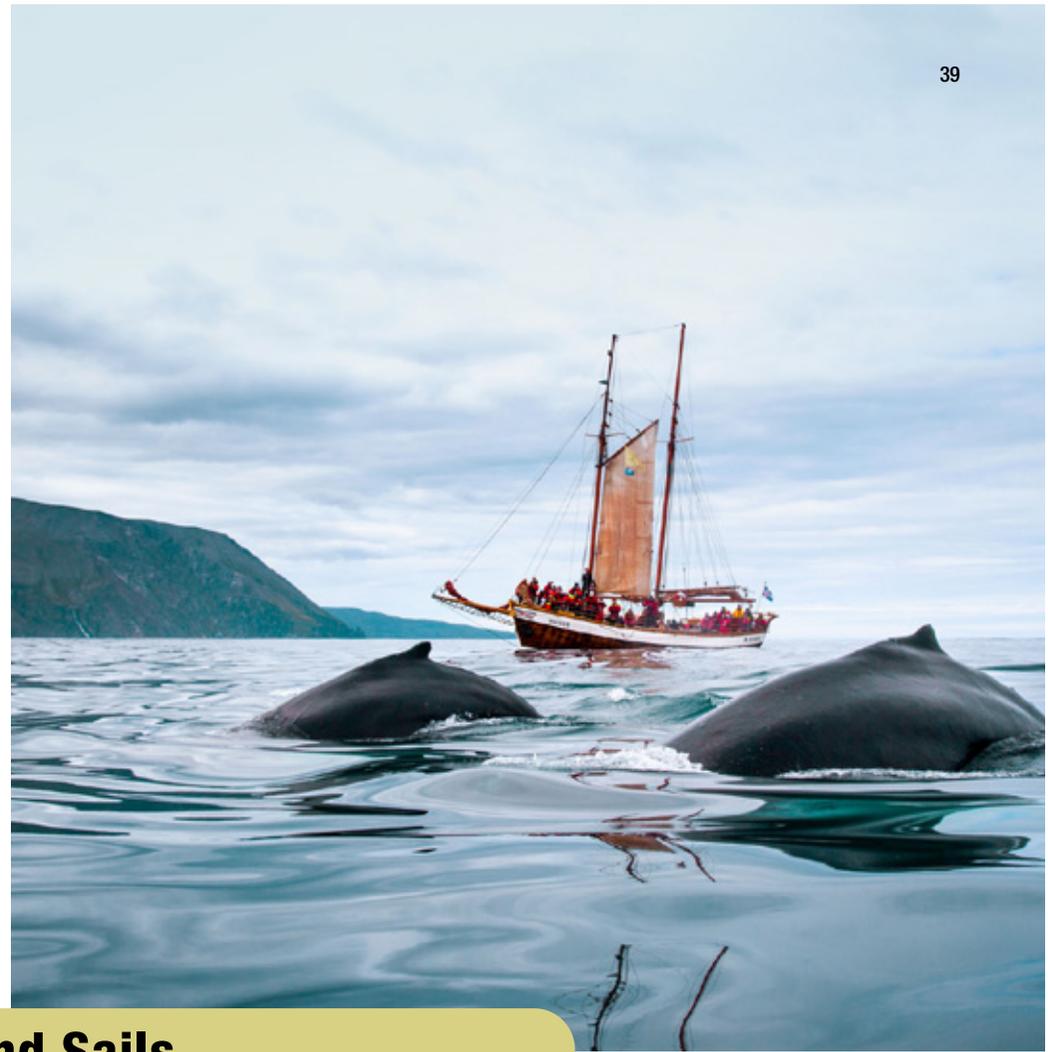

Back on land, you can visit Ektafiskur, a true pioneer in preparing ready-to-cook salted cod products.

The manager, Elvar, is the self-proclaimed “King of the Salted Codfish” and a third-generation salted codfish producer, as his grandfather established the factory in 1940 and evolved the methods that have been put into practice ever since.

At Ektafiskur you can join the Food and fun factory tour (min 6 pax) where you will hear stories about this interesting company and of course taste rotten sharks and local snaps.

Then there is no better way of ending your day than to try salted cod at Baccalá Bar.

Whales and Sails

Set sail towards the spectacular landscape of Skjálfandi Bay on an Icelandic wooden schooner and explore the feeding grounds of the largest animals on Earth! This authentic 3-hour whale-watching tour gives you the unique opportunity to learn about the traditional sailing culture while the professional crew shares stories and knowledge about the whales and wildlife of Skjálfandi Bay, Húsavík. Humpback whales and minke whales are frequent visitors of the Bay, and chances are you will see playful dolphins and a pod of pilot whales – even the mighty blue whale is no stranger to the Bay! Imagine the unforgettable experience of sailing among these magnificent creatures on a beautiful and authentic sailboat. During the tour, you will get the chance to assist the crew in hoisting sails and hauling ropes and learn the key terms and techniques while sailing like a true Viking. On the way back to the harbour of Húsavík after a memorable whale-watching tour, the crew treats you with a steamy cup of hot chocolate and freshly baked cinnamon buns.

Coastal culture and Norse mythology

On this day tour you will experience the Arctic region in all its various aspects and discover the northernmost parts of the Icelandic mainland which are among the least explored frontiers on the traveller's map. You will come close to the Arctic Circle and fall under the spell of stories from Norse mythology when you visit the Arctic Henge and listen to stories about fishing in Raufarhöfn, the so-called Arctic Village. Taste the local food such as fresh fish straight out of the Arctic waters. On the Melrakkaslétta peninsula where time seems to have stopped, you will experience the special natural atmosphere of the subarctic zone.

We meet you in Raufarhöfn, a small seaside village on the Arctic circle zone and one of the northernmost communities in Iceland. A guided walk takes you back in time, to when Herring was the name of the game in Raufarhöfn for many years. Find the hidden marks of old glory and listen to the stories that will take you back to the old days.

Leaving true history, you will drift into mystic legends surrounding the distinctive Arctic Henge that acts as a huge sundial and thrills every visitor, although still under construction. Located on a small hill, the Henge overlooks 360 ° of unbroken horizon and wild nature – perfect for capturing the sunrays between the aligned gateways. Future scenes of coming sculptures will be described, and tales will be told about the wisdom of the Edda, about Norse mythology concerning dwarfs and their role. With these impressions and interpretations of nature we drive out to the subarctic and natural environment of Melrakkaslétta peninsula, where a hike is required to finally reach the northernmost place on the mainland – the lighthouse Hraunhafnartangi, only 3 kilometres from the Arctic Circle.

Meet Icelandic sheep and learn about sustainable food

Join your hosts who run a sustainable farm in one of the most remote corners of Iceland; as far as it is possible to be from Iceland's capital, and experience for 2 days a different rhythm of life. Spring in Iceland is a very special time of the year with its seasonal highlight of lambing, the busiest time of the year for a farmer, but also very rewarding with all the newborn lambs bleating for care and attention. From the long winter break the island awakens into new life: the lambs are born, the sun is back, shining practically 24/7, and migrating birds arrive filling both day and night with their vibrant voices. Mirjam and Sverrir, your hosts, will share the pattern of their daily life with you. You visit the sheep with their lambs and perhaps have the chance to bottle-feed one of these home-bred lambs and find out the traditional ways of sheep farming. You can observe (and perhaps assist in) the training of sheepdogs, learn all about sustainable products, and enjoy helping the farmers to prepare traditional meals with products from the farm.

Ytra Lón | The heartbeat of Mother Earth

"I was in my early twenties, that summer I had been on holiday in Swedish Lapland. Just me, a couple of friends and our backpacks. Hiking in the rough wilderness of Sarek National Park. Drinking the fresh water from its lakes and rivers, gazing at the golden sunsets over the mountains.

Such heart-touching experiences for someone who grew up in an overcrowded, completely cultivated country.

Once back in the Netherlands I felt out of place. Couldn't find my purpose in the Academy of Arts I was in. Just had this overwhelming feeling I had to get out of the country again.

Just somewhere... into nature...

Fate brought me to Iceland.

There I was in the beginning of November, in Reykjavík...

After a few weeks I had to get out of the city. And this time faith brought me to the North of Iceland.

On Hólssel, a farm close to Iceland's remote highlands, I woke up on a beautiful clear December day, everything covered in snow. The energy so pure and so strong, I felt the heartbeat of Mother Earth.

I knew I had come Home.

So here I was, for the first time in my life I felt I had come home.

But three years later faith had other plans for us. Me and by that time my husband.

We had to move.

We started looking for a place just as isolated and quiet as we were used to. A place that could offer us enough pastures / grazeland for our sheep, a fertile piece of land where we could keep on farming. All this we found here in Ytra Lón on Langanes peninsula.

Superb land for our sheep. A lake and a river full of trout. Beaches with driftwood. Islands with breeding Eider. Mother Earth providing us with everything we could need.

So we moved...

To be honest, Langanes didn't feel as home to me from the beginning. Not as Hólssel did so naturally. It took effort, and patience, and adapting.

I saw the birds arriving in spring... But didn't really see the rich birdlife. I was grateful for the driftwood, of which we used plenty in rebuilding the place. But maybe didn't really 'feel' how special this was.

Every time we went back to Hólssel tears just started flowing. Yes, it took me some years... Yes, I was homesick... To my old home... And sometimes to the Netherlands...

But I always knew that for some reason I had to be here.

We did build Ytra Lón from the ground up after it had been neglected for many years. And we build a family. Our family grew with four children.

It was a lot of work, but the land has been so generous. And I started to see the richness of it more and more each year that past.

Birds returning one after the other each spring. Breeding, raising their young, then leaving for their winter grounds. Our sheep, living with us and providing us with a living every year, again and again. The living of the land and with the land. I couldn't think of any other way of living.

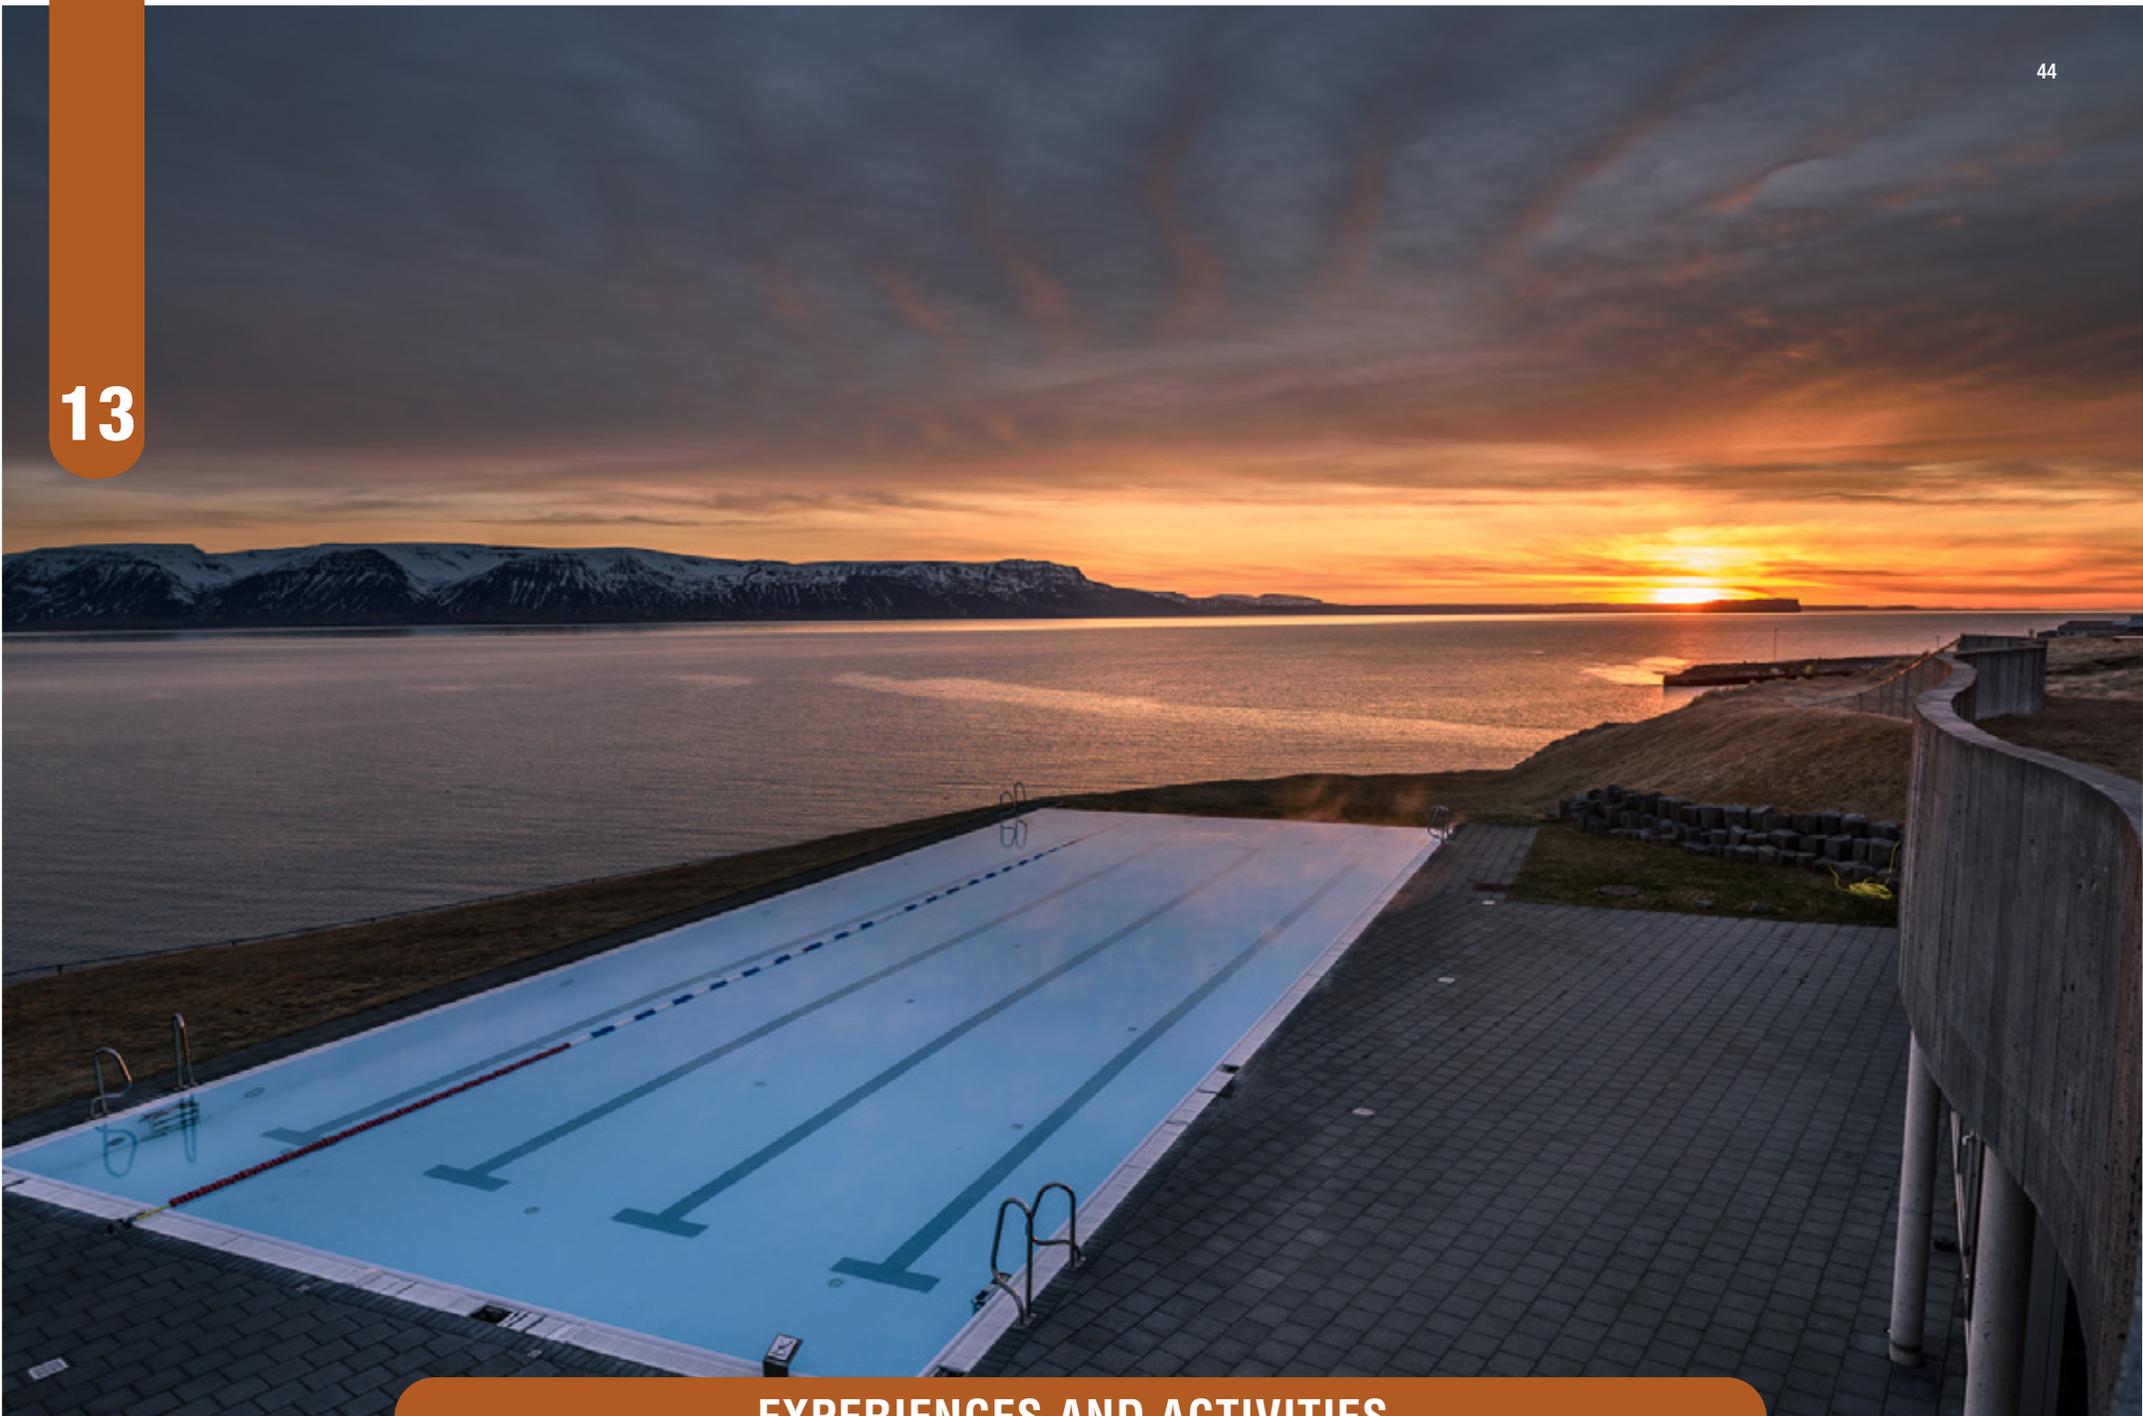

By now, we also run a guesthouse and retreat on our property. We show our guests around, tell them about the farm, about our way of living. Show them Langanes peninsula, its beautiful nature and wildlife and tell its stories. I love connecting to people from all over the world like this. It is so amazing, though living remote like us, getting to meet all those people. I'm very grateful for this.

Taking that leap in my early twenties, jumping on a plane to Iceland, has been the best thing I ever did.

The energy here at the Edge of the Arctic is so pure, the people living here are so grounded and connected to their environment.

For me Iceland and the Icelanders was love at first sight. There was never a way back to 'civilization'..."

There is no better method to experience the Arctic Coast Way than leaving the car and immersing yourself in the unspoiled nature or cultural sites along the route. The list of experiences and activities offers options for all tastes!

SPECIALIZED DAY TOURS

Several tour operators along the Arctic Coast Way can help you with specialized day-tours to specific topics like birding, geology or cultural events, but also for various outdoor activities.

MIDNIGHT SUN TOURS

The midnight sun is one of the wonders the Arctic regions offer their visitors. The warm golden light can be discovered on your own, especially from the “Arctic Coast Way Midnight Sun” viewpoints but you should not miss the magic and tranquillity experienced on the guided midnight sun tours, during hikes, kayak tours or whale watching tours.

NORTHERN LIGHT TOURS

From September to April is the time to see the dancing lights of Aurora Borealis. Their splendour is best seen in absolute darkness. Guided tours take you to those places and also ensure your safety in snowy conditions. No matter whether on tours by car or on a sailing boat the magic is always the same.

WHALE WATCHING

The coast of North Iceland offers magnificent options to encounter the friendly giants of the ocean. Humpback whales are the most common species, but there are many more varieties and even the giant of the oceans, the blue whale, is a regular guest here in the North. Most whales visit north Iceland during the summer, but we also have a large number of permanent residents. There are modes of sailing to suit every taste, for example traditional old oak boats, zodiacs and closed boats with options to sit inside.

BOAT TOURS

Leaving the mainland by a variety of boat tours offers a splendid option to experience the shores of the Arctic Coast Way from a new perspective, thus revealing new hidden gems. Most of the tours connect with the charm-ing islands along the Arctic Coast Way, beckoning visitors to explore their rich birdlife, amazing nature wonders and each one offering individual stories of remote life close to the Arctic Circle.

GUIDED HIKES

There are countless options for hikes along the route of the Arctic Coast Way. Many are marked, although a large number is unmarked as yet, but nevertheless easy to follow as they trace their way through the landscape. We highly recommend going on hikes with a guided tour where an experienced guide will show you the way through hidden trails, help in difficult landscapes and tell you countless stories of nature and culture along the trails.

HORSEBACK TOURS

Without the strong Icelandic horses there would probably have been no settlement in Iceland. These amazing animals are still close to the Icelandic way of life and there is no better option to connect to tradition and experience nature at the same time. A tour along the shore or even on a black sand beach is a very special experience.

BIRDING AND PUFFIN TOURS

The Arctic Coast Way includes some of the best birding locations in Iceland which are part of the Birding Trail (find more information here: www.northiceland.is/birding). You can either stop at the birding locations yourself or go on a guided birding tour. The best places to see the puffins are Drangey Island, Grímsey Island, Lundy Island and Langanes. It is also an unforgettable experience to observe the arctic gannets on Langanes and the handsome harlequin ducks in Blönduós. These are just some few examples of the rich birdlife along the Arctic Coast Way.

KAYAKING

There are several options to discover the coast along the Arctic Coast Way, for example on a guided Kayak Tour. Being out on the ocean offers a new perspective to nature along the shore and you can reach places which are not accessible by car or hikes. The clear waters around Iceland allow deep views into the ocean. You can encounter sea birds – and maybe even dolphins or whales.

ARCTIC SNORKELLING

Snorkelling in the ocean by the Arctic island of Grímsey is a unique experience. The ocean has been a rich fishing ground for centuries and the area around the island is full of life with a great kelp forest on the bottom, the home of many different fish such as cod, haddock, star fish, plaice and pollock. The puffins and whales are usually not far away either. But keep in mind, puffins are summer guests and come to Iceland about the middle of April – the middle of August.

ARCTIC DIVING

Diving in the ocean by Grímsey Island is an exciting way to discover the magnificent surroundings below the surface. Experience the wonders of fauna and flora in this hidden world at the Arctic Circle.

JET SKIING

An adventurous way to experience spectacular views of the coast around Ólafsfjörður. The tours take you through unspoiled nature past the headland of Ólafsfjarðarmúli and Hvanndalabjarg, the highest precipice in Iceland.

SEA ANGLING

Experience the exciting feeling of catching your own meal on the North Atlantic Ocean. The distance to the rich fish-ing grounds is pretty short. Angling connects you to fish-ing as an important part of life in Iceland and offers the option to try the great quality of Icelandic fish. Check out the tours from various operators; some connect angling with whale watch-ing, others offer options to prepare your catch in restaurants in towns, or even with locals.

WOOL & KNITTING

Sheep's wool is an important traditional product in Iceland and Icelanders still love to wear their woollen sweaters. You can learn all about this fascinating natural material and how to process it.

WALKING WITH ELVES

Some believe in them, some do not. But elves and other natural creatures are a well-known part of Icelandic life. Take a walk with a local guide to learn everything about elves, their homes and their ways and maybe you will encounter them – who knows!

SPA & WELLNESS

Iceland's peaceful and pure nature gives the perfect frame for various offers in the field of Spa, Wellness, Wellbeing and Yoga. The landscapes, the clean air and water and the sound of silence invite everyone to slow down and to recharge your batteries.

BEST HIKES ALONG THE ARCTIC COAST WAY

There are endless options for hiking tours along the Arctic Coast Way. This is the perfect way to immerse oneself in unspoiled nature, to experience the sounds of nature or even the opposite, the absolute silence, a gift of nature which, sadly, has been lost in our modern time. Most of the recommended hikes are accessible to persons with normal to good physical fitness and the landscape is well suited for walking. For some hikes, we strongly recommend a local guide, as the trails follow difficult landscapes and need special attention and orientation.

Hrútey island and the river Blanda | Blönduós

Short hikes on excellent footpaths invite you to discover a wide variety of vegetation and an abundant birdlife. Hrútey Island is an excellent place just to stop and take a break as there is a clearing with benches and picnic tables.

Sea Cliff Bolabás | Blönduós

A short and easy hike takes you from the harbor along the coast to a number of pretty sea cliffs. At the end you reach the cliff of Bolabás. The tour offers amazing views over the bay with the mountains of the Westfjords on the horizon.

Mount Spákonufell | Skagaströnd

The mountain is 639m high and the trail is marked. The North Route starts at road 745 near the crossroads to Skagaströnd. The entire walking distance is 7 km. The summit offers magnificent views over Skagi peninsula and the ocean.

Spákonufellshöfði | Skagaströnd

A beautiful coastal walk of about 2 km that starts near the harbour of Skagaströnd. The trails are marked.

Kálfsamarsvík | Northwest coast of Skagi

An interesting short walk takes visitors through the ruins of the once flourishing settlement of Kálfsamarsvík and to the lighthouse. The cliffs display spectacular basalt columns.

Mountain Tindastóll | Sauðárkrókur

A marked trail leads up the 650m high mountain that offers stunning views over Skagafjörður bay. Hiking distance is about 6 km and the trail starts at road 744 where a sign points to the parking lot.

Hegranes lighthouse | Sauðárkrókur

A short and easy hike of about 4 km takes you to the Hegranes lighthouse. It is a very charming place and offers amazing views over the long black beach near Sauðárkrókur and the beautiful fjord of Skagafjörður with all its islands and the high mountains on either side.

to experience
the sounds of true nature

Selvíkurviti | Siglufjörður

This easy hike follows the coast on the opposite side of Siglufjörður to the lighthouse of Selvíkurviti. The entire hiking distance is about 5 km.

Héðinsfjörður | Fjord between Siglufjörður and Ólafsfjörður

Before the tunnels were opened, Héðinsfjörður was one of the most remote fjords and hard to reach. Now a marked trail starts right at the parking area on road 76, and the round trip is about 5 km. The hike can be described as easy and takes visitors through a beautiful fjord and along a lake to a beach strewn with driftwood.

Melrakkadalur | Dalvík

An easy, scenic hike of 2 km takes the visitor to the small “Fox-Valley” with extensive views over the area around Dalvík.

Böggvisstaðafjall | Dalvík

This mountain is part of a natural resort. The marked hike starts at the church in Dalvík and the entire route is 8 km long. The highest point reaches 778m and offers fantastic views over Dalvík, the fjord of Eyjafjörður and Hrísey Island.

Hrísey Island

There are several marked circle trails on the island guiding visitors to unspoiled nature spots with a rich birdlife and opening up amazing views toward the high mountains on either side of Eyjafjörður. The trails are between 2.3 km and 5 km and start in the island's small fishing village.

Grímsey Island

Several easy trails of varying lengths start in the island's small village, offering visitors the option to cross the Arctic Circle and see the sculpture “Orbis et Globus”. This trail is 3.8 km. The longest trail circles the whole island, giving endless opportunities to encounter puffins and discover the steep cliffs on the North side of the island.

Krossanesborgir | Akureyri

Several easy hikes along marked circular paths guide the visitor through this natural reserve near Akureyri. This location is characterised by numerous basalt rock formations, about 5-10 million years old. Rich vegetation finds shelter in amongst these rocks – around 200 different plant species. The area is also inhabited by diverse birdlife – over 27 different bird species, or about 35% of the total number of avian species in Iceland have been found to nest here.

COAST OF FISHING TOWNS AND HERITAGE

Pengilhöfði | Grenivík

This small headland provides magnificent views over Eyjafjörður. A short hiking loop of about 4 km starts at Höfðabrekka near the town of Grenivík and leads up to the peak of 275 m altitude.

Laufáshnjúkur | Kræðufell | Ystuvíkurfjall

Right behind Laufás Turf House Museum are several peaks that offer incredible views. Two hikes lead to Laufáshnjúkur (674m) and Ystuvíkurfjall (572m). Experienced hikers in prime physical condition can tackle a long hike (about 17km) starting at Laufás and including the three neighbouring peaks, Laufáshnjúkur, Kræðufell (747m) and Ystuvíkurfjall. Participants need to organise a pick-up for the return journey to Laufás or book a guided tour.

the perfect way to immerse oneself in unspoiled nature

Mount Kaldbakur | Grenivík

This mountain, rising up behind Grenivík, is suitable for experienced hikers only, or with a guided tour, as the peak towers up to 1177m and includes several dangerous and exposed alpine rock cliffs.

Látraströnd | Grenivík

This amazing and easy return hike follows the coast north of Grenivík and surprises the traveller with amazing views and emotive ruins from earlier periods of settlement. It is up to you how long you follow the trail as it leads 21 km towards the north.

Húsavíkurfjall | Húsavík

Comfortable hiking route leading up the mountain beside Húsavík along a solid but steep car track. Stunning views of the scenery around Húsavík and Skjálfandafloi bay. The return tour is 6 km.

Fjord to fjord Tour

This magnificent hiking tour explores two of the most pristine fjords in the north of Iceland, just below the Arctic Circle. After a scenic route from Akureyri following the coastline of Eyjafjörður, you leave the asphalt for a bumpy mountain road with numerous small streams you must ford. You hike from one fjord to another traversing mountain passes.

Eyjan Ásbyrgi

The hiking route leads from the camping ground in Ásbyrgi on to the steep hill in the centre of the horseshoe canyon which was an island during floods that washed away the surrounding ground some 3000 years ago. The route is 5 km in length.

Snartarstaðanúpur | near Kópasker

An easy route with 2 x 3 km distance goes from Hvallág up along the cliff to Mígindishnúta, leaving only a short, though fairly strenuous, way to the peak. Although only 284 m high, the summit provides an expansive view, in good visibility even to Grímsey island. It is possible to continue south down the mountain. Across easy terrain one can walk all the way to Kópasker (6.5 km). With sheltered spots and holes through cliffs, the shoreline south of Hvalvík is beautiful, but care needs to be taken in some places to avoid being stranded by the tide.

Kópasker tectonic graben

Several sites in the vicinity of Kópasker show clear signs of the impact of a major earthquake which shook the area in 1976, causing significant damage. These sites are connected with a tour organised by the Earthquake Center.

Hraunhafnartangi

This easy walk follows a 4WD track along a coastline characterised by rich birdlife to the lighthouse of Hraunhafnartangi, the northernmost point of Iceland. The walk is 2x1.7 km.

Raufarhöfn

Two short marked footpaths invite the visitor to discover Iceland's northernmost village; one leads to the lighthouse on Höfði headland and the other takes you up to Ásinn ridge where pausing at a rest stop provides a panoramic view of Raufarhöfn and Þistilfjörður.

Fossá | near Þórshöfn

It is an easy walk from the water tanks on Brekknaheiði south to Fossá river and following its course down to the highway. Superb view over the village and Þistilfjörður.

absolute silence

COAST OF ELEMENTAL NATURE

Hrollaugsstaðir to Skálar | East coast of Langanes

For about 15 km the trail follows the amazing coastline of east Langanes with sunbathing seals, bird cliffs, a graveyard and the ruins of old farms; also, perhaps, a chance of spotting whales. The trail terminates at the abandoned village of Skálar. Ytra Lón Farm Lodge offers pick-ups and drop-offs with a stopover at the bird-cliffs of Skoruvík.

Langanes and surroundings

The owners of Ytra-Lón Farm Lodge offer a 5 day package tour with hikes to the hidden gems of Langanes and its surroundings. A perfect way to enjoy the scenery and become acquainted with the way of life in these parts, guided by local people.

Rauðanes | in Pistilfjörður between Raufarhöfn and Þórshöfn

Numerous beautiful rock formations, sea stacks and cliffs are found around the peninsula Rauðanes. An easy marked hike circles the peninsula. The loop is about 6km.

GEOTHERMAL BATHS

No matter what the season or weather, taking a break in the hot geothermal waters of the swimming pools and the natural pools all along the Arctic Coast Way is not only an amazing way to relax and gather energy, but also an important part of experiencing the daily life of people living so close to the Arctic Circle.

Please familiarise yourself with opening times as they differ from village to village and from season to season.

ACCOMMODATION

You will find accommodation of all categories along the Arctic Coast Way, although availability of hotels is limited in some areas. Guesthouses and farm accommodations offer not only an individual atmosphere, but also the option to establish contact with owners and local people. In remoter areas accommodation is not open all year round, therefore please contact in advance to request the options to stay. Most providers are willing to open to receive groups even when officially closed.

FOOD & DRINK AND FOOD EXPERIENCES

Icelandic food stands for pure and fresh ingredients and you should not miss out on delicious meals with fresh fish, lamb and vegetables from Iceland. Several places also offer the option to experience traditional Icelandic meals which gives a special insight into the way of life here in North Iceland.

For dining with groups, we recommend contacting the establishment in question in advance to ensure availability and opening times. North Iceland takes pride in its growing numbers of micro-breweries and you should not miss out on tasting the local beers!

Please find more detailed information about menus and opening times on www.arcticcoastway.is and on the providers' homepages.

TASTE THE ARCTIC COAST WAY

North Iceland is the biggest agricultural area of Iceland and we are proud of our products. An authentic taste of local food is a delicious way to connect to the culture, lifestyle and traditions of a country. The initiative of Taste the Arctic Coast Way focuses on those hand-picked food locales along the route whose passion and conviction is to deliver the authentic and unique taste of Iceland to customers' plates by using locally produced ingredients. Those establishments work with farmers, fishermen and various food producers in offering tasty dishes, supporting sustainability and strength-ening the rural region and its food heritage.

If you like to try out some more delicious stopovers we strongly recommend taking a detour from the Arctic Coast Way and following the Helgi Magri Food Trail into one of Iceland's richest agricultural areas, Eyjafjörður, in the neighbourhood of Akureyri.

Don't miss to collect individual recipes from restaurants participating in "Taste the Arctic Coast Way". In this way you can preserve your unique memories of local delicacies and take them back home with you. You can collect recipes at each location in your personal digital passport.

FOOD EXPERIENCES AND FOOD FESTIVALS

Food experiences give you the chance to discover the pure and fresh ingredients of the North coast under the guidance of local food lovers who share their passion and knowledge about local ingredients, harvesting and cooking in the Icelandic way. More and more food festivals take place in summer and autumn and have a strong connection to food heritage in North Iceland. Farmers and chefs are proud of their products and celebrate the pureness and freshness of the local ingredients.

Brimslóð Atelier Guesthouse	Blönduós	The hosts share their special knowledge and experience of Icelandic cuisine and its connection to Iceland's unique natural history. Participants will learn about using natural and wild food and the raw ingredients found in northern climates. They will learn about traditional Nordic preservation and storage methods and get hands-on experience of preparing ingredients and cooking a meal.	brimslodguesthouse.is ibergthorsdottir@gmail.com
Réttir Food Festival	The area between Hvammstangi and Skagafjörður	This food festival takes place during 10 days at the end of August in many different locations. It is a fabulous occasion to taste and learn all about local food.	rettir.is/ rettir@rettir.is
Rural Show -Agricultural &amp; Farmers' Festival	Skagafjörður	This is an annual agricultural fair held in August. The displays include farming machinery, farm animals, booths of local businesses, local farmers' market stalls and agriculture related presentations from Icelandic companies. The fair also features ram judging, a calf show and children's entertainment, to name but a few.	Visitskagafjordur.is skagafjordur@skagafordur.is

CULTURAL HIGHLIGHTS & MUSEUMS

You should not miss the many opportunities to experience the various aspects of cultural life along the Arctic Coast Way. The rough land and the cold ocean strongly influenced the way of living here close to the Arctic Circle – and still do. Most of the places offer a guided tour for groups. Please book your tour in advance to ensure a guide is available.

COAST OF SAGAS AND MYTHOLOGY

Icelandic Seal Center		Hvammstangi	Charming museum about the life of seals. Offers information about seal watching in the area.	selasetur.is selasetur@selasetur.is Guided tours are available
KIDKA Wool Factory		Hvammstangi	KIDKA is a knitting and sewing company that produces knitwear out of Icelandic wool for its own clothing line. Its name stands for beautiful, high-quality wool products which are fashionable, comfortable and genuinely Icelandic.	kidka.com shop@kidka.com
Icelandic Textile Center		Blönduós	The Icelandic Textile Center aims to promote and develop Icelandic and international textiles. It collaborates on research projects in areas important to the region and encourages cooperation, education, and innovation in the field of textiles, textile art and design. The surrounding terrain is a mix of dark volcanic rock and vibrant green grass. The sea is a deep blue, with white waves crashing against the rocks. In the distance, a wide, flat plain stretches to the horizon under a bright blue sky with scattered white clouds. The number '20' is visible in a grey circle on the left side of the image.

TOWNS AND VILLAGES OF THE ARCTIC COAST WAY

Even though the Arctic Coast Way connects to unspoiled and wild nature, visitors will encounter 21 towns and villages all along the route, each with its own character and individual stories to tell. They are all witness to a different way of life far out in the North. Not all villages offer restaurants and coffee houses all year round but most are very willing to welcome groups in the off-peak season if booked in advance.

HVAMMSTANGI

Hvammstangi town, on the eastern coast of Miðfjörður, is the centre for seal watching in the Vatnsnes peninsula, starting at The Icelandic Seal Center, and there are seal watching tours by boat. The town's commercial history spans more than 100 years and among services is the important wool factory KIDKA, likely to be of special interest to visitors.

ACCESS TO THE ARCTIC COAST WAY

There are several options to access and travel the Arctic Coast Way. The entire route can, for example be included in the circle around Iceland along Highway 1. We recommend, however, considering a tour with a focus on North Iceland. You can easily combine the Arctic Coast Way with a detour along the Diamond Circle, a detour to the highlands or many other highlights of North Iceland and thus complete a perfect two-week programme without hitting the same road twice.

AIRPORTS ALONG THE ROUTE

There are 3 airports along the route: Akureyri, Húsavík and Þórshöfn. Two airports are apart from the route, Vopnafjörður and Egilsstaðir, but are good gateways to quickly reach the route.

FERRY TO SEYÐISFJÖRÐUR

Taking your car on the ferry Norrøna from Denmark via the Faroe Islands to East Iceland is a convenient method of accessing the Arctic Coast Way .

CAR RENTALS ALONG THE ROUTE

Our partner Höldur Europcar offers car rental stations in several places along the Arctic Coast Way: Þórshöfn, Húsavík, Akureyri, Siglufjörður, Sauðárkrókur.

There are also other car rentals in Keflavík, Egilsstaðir and Vopnafjörður which can be used as gateways to the route.

OPTIONS TO ACCESS THE ARCTIC COAST WAY

- Bringing your own car to Seyðisfjörður and reaching the Arctic Coast Way in Bakkafjörður
- Driving around Iceland along Highway 1 and accessing the Arctic Coast Way as a detour in Bakkafjörður or Hvammstangi
- Taking a flight to Egilsstaðir, Þórshöfn or Vopnafjörður, renting a car and reaching the Arctic Coast Way at its east end; then dropping the car off in Keflavík
- Adding the Diamond Circle by a detour to the Arctic Coast Way
- Taking a flight to Akureyri or Húsavík and completing a large figure of eight ∞loop including the Arctic Coast Way and almost all other highlights in the North.

ITINERARIES FOR THE ARCTIC COAST WAY

Give yourself ample time when you plan a trip along the Arctic Coast Way. The varied conditions of the Arctic Coast Way, the roads, the weather and remoteness, call for a flexible schedule. Experiencing the entire route and its islands will take about 12 days.

Spring, autumn and winter are beautiful seasons to discover the Arctic Coast Way. But as snow can fall in these seasons you must be aware of challenging weather and road conditions and give your schedule flexibility. In snowy conditions it is not possible to travel the entire Arctic Coast Way, but you can follow the winter route alternative!

Please check out the map to the route for snowy weather in chapter 5.

The suggested itineraries and timeframes are calculated on the basis of road distance and stops along the route. When you plan to visit the islands, you need to add extra time. There are countless options to enjoy various outdoor activities and cultural experiences along your route to really immerse yourself in the magic of the Arctic Coast Way. Please adjust your schedule accordingly.

DIGITAL FOOTPRINT & MEDIA

Since its opening in June 2019, the Arctic Coast Way has experienced a huge interest in the media:

Sunday Times, The Metro, Telegraph, National Geographic, Die Zeit, Financial Times, Guardian, Terra and many many more have already written about this amazing new driving route.

“You can go hours without seeing another car, and it doesn’t escape my attention that one lapse of judgment could result in us plopping into the sea completely unnoticed. But at the same time, this is the route’s big plus. Pull up and explore the coastline – maybe to check out an alien rock formation or watch a herd of seals bobbing by a black sand beach – and the tranquility is overwhelming. Stand still for even a second and everything drops away but the sea, the breeze and the terns that flit about unbothered in the sky....”

STUART HERITAGE EasyJet June 2019

“If luxury travel these days is escaping other humans, then losing a phone signal and being at one with your thoughts amid spectacular scenery, the Arctic Coast Way is luxurious indeed.”
