Arrive with time on your hands and enjoy a different rhythm of life!

The Arctic Coast Way leaves the much-travelled routes behind and guides visitors off the beaten track to explore the northern edge of Iceland, so close to the Arctic Circle.

The Arctic Coast Way invites tourists to become travellers and takes them on a journey in a spirit of adventure and exploration. Arctic Coast Way travellers will go further than most other tourists simply by leaving the ring road. Narrow and often gravelled roads ring six peninsulas; one is uninhabited, three have only a few farms and small settlements, offering endless space and a sense of freedom, tempting you to go "off the grid".

The Arctic Coast Way is not just about driving but welcomes you to a route with stories and experiences round every bend or corner and over every hill. It inspires visitors to immerse themselves in the energy of elemental nature and to fill their days with all kinds of activities, ranging from soft adventure to personal challenges and observing outstanding wildlife habitats.

The Arctic Coast Way connects to a different way of life dominated by its relationship to the sea and its position so far North – from the early Viking period to present day fisheries and villages dotted along the coastline. Contrasts in daily life are apparent, from remote fishing villages to the Capital of the North and connect visitors to the spirit of people who value traditions while living to the pulse of modern times.

The Arctic Coast Way invites you to slow down and unwind. Those who are open to tasting a variety of experiences come alive when they step outside and feel elation at the stops in between their destinations –or unexpected breaks dictated by weather, which is such a powerful element in the region where the icy ocean meets volcanic land. They feel the freedom of breathing to the rhythm of waves and wind, and while away the time listening to stories told by the locals.

The Arctic Coast Way is never the same! Here are about 900 km waiting to be explored; the journey, however, is not measured in milestones but in unexpected moments that will make visitors wish to return again and again. The dramatic change in luminosity from midnight sun to northern lights and the seasonal palette of colours from pristine winter white to autumn's blaze of hues offers visitors a new route every time with new adventures and a new story waiting for them.

CONSIDERATIONS FOR ORGANISING TOURS ALONG THE ARCTIC COAST WAY

The Arctic Coast Way differs from many other driving routes

Important considerations, especially for organising group tours are:

- 1 Off the beaten track is not a mere phrase, but a crucial fact. It requires attention and consideration as it leads to remote areas, sometimes with less infrastructure and challenging road and weather conditions. We recommend, therefore, travelling as self-driver or in small groups, with small buses, always 4WD vehicles and careful planning to allow yourselves plenty of time.
- 2 Arctic Coast Way offers many hotels along the entire route. But density differs in the regions. Charming accommodation in family-based guesthouses and on farms offers a good chance to meet the locals and observe their way of living.
- 3 As some of the areas are quite remote the infrastructure is not open all year round. But most of the providers are willing to open on request especially for groups. Please contact providers in advance when you plan a trip in off peak seasons.
- 4 We recommend local guides as they are familiar with weather and road conditions and can also tell the endless stories about how life is different up here, so close to the Arctic Circle.
- 5 The Arctic Coast Way project is in its initial stages and the period of development and improvement has just started. The infrastructure along the route will be continuously improved in the coming years.
- 6 Please follow these signs on your drive along the Arctic Coast Way.
- 7 The Arctic Coast Way goes off the beaten track to discover hidden gems. But it is easy to add some of the famous highlights of North Iceland. In Ásbyrgi and Húsavík it is easy to combine the Arctic Coast Way with the Diamond Circle with its highlights of Lake Mývatn and Dettifoss. After doing this extra loop, one can easily return to the Arctic Coast Way.
- 8 The Arctic Coast Way is developed as a long detour from Ring Road No.1 and can be included in a circle tour around Iceland. But we recommend considering a tour limiting yourself to North Iceland, including the entire Arctic Coast Way and all of the countless attractions, besides the Arctic Coast Way itself.

OPERATION RULES & BRAND GUIDELINES

Operation rules and brand guidelines have been established to help you understand the usage of the brand Arctic Coast Way. To preserve the quality of the brand for the benefit of all who trade under it, the brand Arctic Coast Way and its logo is a registered trademark.

All trades using the name of the Arctic Coast Way and its logo have to respect the operation rules and brand guidelines!

Operation rules are set up for Icelandic operators, incoming agencies and overseas operators who are not located along the Arctic Coast Way and do not meet the membership criteria.

PLEASE CONTACT US:

- if you need help planning your tour
- if you have questions about the usage of the Arctic Coast Way Brand
- to get the Brand Guidelines
- to get the logo
- to get free photos for your marketing

OPERATION RULES

Authentic Tours, which run under the name Arctic Coast Way and/or use the logo have to:

- include a substantial portion of the route of the Arctic Coast Way (see Day-Tours and Multiday-Tours)
- include a substantial portion of Arctic Coast Way products, services and experiences
- fulfil the brand values and promise of the Arctic Coast Way
- respect nature, wildlife and culture and encourage sustainable conduct
- have a qualified guide who can tell visitors about coastal landscapes and how nature and the ocean influenced life and culture close to the Arctic Circle

1. Day Tours

Day Tours have to include 75% of the road distance on the Arctic Coast Way.

2. Multiple Day Tours

Multiple Day Tours have to include 50% of the travel days on the defined route of the Arctic Coast Way.

Tours, that include parts of the Arctic Coast Way:

Multiple Day Tours that only include parts of the Arctic Coast Way and spend less than 50% of the travel days on the defined route, need to have at least two full days on the Arctic Coast Way route to be allowed to use the name and logo in the relevant day itineraries, but not in the title of the tour. Please ask Visit North Iceland for permission to use the logo.

Please take the Icelandic Pledge:
www.inspiredbyiceland.com/icelandicpledge/

TAKE THE ICELANDIC PLEDGE

The Arctic Coast Way welcomes its visitors to an unforgettable journey in the spirit of adventure and exploration and takes them through an unspoiled natural environment along the coast of North Iceland. In order to maintain the integrity of the route as adventure, but not as a danger, and to preserve the unspoiled natural beauty, we encourage our visitors, our partners and each business trading under the Arctic Coast Way logo to inform their customers about the Icelandic Pledge from Inspired by Iceland.

I PLEDGE TO BE A RESPONSIBLE TOURIST

WHEN I EXPLORE NEW PLACES, I WILL LEAVE THEM AS I FOUND THEM.

I WILL TAKE PHOTOS TO DIE FOR, WITHOUT DYING FOR THEM.

I WILL FOLLOW THE ROAD INTO THE UNKNOWN, BUT NEVER VENTURE OFF THE ROAD.

AND I WILL ONLY PARK WHERE I AM SUPPOSED TO.

WHEN I SLEEP OUT UNDER THE STARS, I'LL STAY WITHIN A CAMP SITE.

AND WHEN NATURE CALLS, I WON'T ANSWER THE CALL ON NATURE.

I WILL BE PREPARED FOR ALL WEATHERS, ALL POSSIBILITIES AND ALL ADVENTURES.

ROAD AND DRIVING CONDITIONS

Driving the Arctic Coast Way is different from what you might be used to. It is a real off the beaten track route that guides you through beautiful remote landscapes. This does not only mean leaving the crowd behind but going on a tour in the spirit of adventure and exploration. The conditions of the Arctic Coast Way, the roads, the weather, and remoteness, require you to make space for some extra time in your itinerary.

PLEASE CHECK
ROAD AND WEATHER CONDITIONS DURING YOUR TOUR ALONG THE ARCTIC COAST WAY ON:
SAFETRAVEL.IS
AND ON ROAD.IS

We recommend taking a 4WD vehicle. There are many gravel roads along the route and a 4WD vehicle offers better safety all year round.

DRIVING THE ARCTIC COAST WAY MEANS:

- Leaving the wide roads and following narrow roads through remote areas with less infrastructure.
- Leaving the paved roads and driving considerable distances on gravel roads (about 1/3 of the entire route).
- Please stay on the roads. Leaving the road means off-road driving, forbidden by law, incurring considerable fines to offenders. Help to protect sensitive moss and vegetation.

DISTANCES WITH GRAVEL ROADS ARE:

- Road 711/716/717 from Hvammstangi around Vatnsnes
- Road 745 from Skagaströnd around Skagi to road No. 744
- Detour on road 748 west side of Skagafjörður
- Road 835 through the Fnjóská valley north of Akureyri
- Road 870 around Melrakkaslétta
- Detour on road 869 on Langanes peninsula

ARCTIC COAST WAY IN SNOWY AND WINTER CONDITIONS:

In snowy conditions, several parts of the Arctic Coast Way only permit extremely limited access. As the name of the route indicates, it is close to the Arctic. Here in the far North snowfalls can occur between September and May. Always check daily weather and road conditions. When travelling in winter, make sure you have enough time and flexibility as weather conditions can be challenging and snowstorms or heavy snowfalls can even close the main roads which are usually cleared every day.

TOILET ACCESS ALONG THE ARCTIC COAST WAY

There is toilet access at a moderate distance all around the Arctic Coast Way. But the situation differs from what you might be used to in other countries. Toilets are mostly offered by private companies for their customers. You are welcome to use these toilets as long as you are a customer. Please respect this service and encourage your guests to respect it as well.

DISABILITY ACCESS ALONG THE ARCTIC COAST WAY

The Arctic Coast Way guides its visitors to untouched and remote nature, which is often hard to access for disabled persons. Along the paved roads there are many options to stop a bus and access a paved parking space to enjoy panoramic landscape views. But access to paved walking paths through attractive areas is unfortunately not yet on offer. Nevertheless, there are options for disabled persons to experience the Arctic Coast Way.

Please find this symbol in the overviews of Chapters 12, 15, 16 and 17 and contact the providers for detailed information.

MAP OF THE ROUTE & TRAVEL SECTIONS

With 900 km of route, the Arctic Coast Way offers a tour in the spirit of adventure and exploration and invites you to slow down and unwind.

Even though the best way is to experience the whole route you might need to decide which part of the route you take as there is so much to see and do along the Arctic Coast Way. It is broken into three zones, each with its own character and uniqueness.

COAST OF SAGAS AND MYTHOLOGY

The western part of the Arctic Coast Way is an area with an atmospheric coast and high mountains offering excellent habitats to discover Arctic Wildlife with seals and birds. Here Icelandic horses roam in a fertile land of stories, sagas, myths and histories.

COAST OF FISHING TOWNS AND HERITAGE

At the heart of the Arctic Coast Way is a coastline rich with culture and activities – the capital of North Iceland and a string of fishing towns, harbours and ports are linked by a breathtaking route of cliff roads, mountain tunnels, glacial river, ferries and bridges across fjords. This is the gateway to Grímsey Island and the Arctic Circle.

COAST OF ELEMENTAL NATURE

Leave the tourists behind and become a traveller through this compelling, mysterious landscape that changes dramatically with the seasons – from its summer residents and millions of birds to the emptiness, darkest skies and absolute silence of winter. Whenever you come you will find deep peace, solitude and contemplation inspired by distant views and the echoes and footprints of nature and history.

TRAVEL SEASONS

Besides summer, autumn, winter and spring are also ideal seasons to discover the attractions of Arctic Coast Way, each in its own distinctive fashion. But as snow may appear in early autumn (September, October), be a near-certainty in winter (November – March) and to be expected in springtime (April-May) you must be aware of challenging weather and road conditions and build flexibility into your schedule with some extra days. In snowy conditions, it is not possible to travel the entire Arctic Coast Way, but you can follow the winter route alternative! Please check out the map to the route for snowy weather on page 17.

Summer

Summer is the season of best road conditions and the entire route is accessible. This is also the season of high-est temperatures, although cold days may be expected as the route is close to the Arctic Circle. Most activities are available, except winter sports, and there may be limitations due to daily weather conditions. Many events and festivals occur in all towns along the route. As this is the main season, advance booking is required.

Autumn

Usually all roads remain open, but single days with snowy conditions may occur. The weather is often excellent, albeit with lower temperatures than in summer, but still with a lot of sun and long days to fill with activities and experiences. September brings in the season of the Northern Lights. Nature changes its colours and offers blueberries and mushrooms during hikes. Important cultural events such as the sheep round-ups dominate daily life in the countryside.

Winter

This is the season of challenging road and weather conditions, but nevertheless of great beauty and tranquillity. Travelling in the winter months requires careful planning and consideration of time. Winter is marked by diverse cultural experiences and you can enjoy excellent and traditional food around Christmas and New Year. As an extra bonus, it is also the high season for Northern Lights.

Spring

Usually, all roads are open, but unstable weather conditions can still bring temporary snowfalls and closed roads. The first fresh green vegetation is beginning to appear after the long winter frosts and the migrating birds are arriving. This is also the lambing season, the farmers' busiest time of year. The sun arrives and the days get longer at a rapid rate. Late winter (March) into spring is the main season for national and international skiers and many visitors enjoy the opportunity to tackle the white slopes in the light of the midnight sun.

WINTER ALONG THE ARCTIC COAST WAY

The Arctic Coast Way offers a winter experience where wellbeing and warmth come first. Travelers can soak in mineral rich waters while snow-capped peaks surround them, and the Northern Lights sweep across the sky. An unforgettable combination of nature and nurture.

Food is a highlight of every visit. Menus along the Arctic Coast Way celebrate the region's ingredients with fresh fish, organic lamb and seasonal vegetables. Winter also brings deeper cultural experiences. Museums, cultural centres and inspiring exhibitions tell stories of coastal life, Icelandic history, Arctic exploration and unique artistic perspectives. Guests enjoy meaningful encounters with local people and the region's rich heritage.

Above all, there is space to breathe. The pace is unhurried, the scenery dramatic, and the sense of wellbeing genuine. With comfortable accommodation, warm hospitality and endless opportunities to witness the dancing aurora.

Please check weather and road conditions at safetravel.is and road.is.

OVERVIEW OF POINTS OF INTEREST

VIEWING THE MIDNIGHT SUN:

These locations offer some of the best views of the Midnight Sun. Some are accessible by car; others by walks and hikes.

NORTHERN LIGHT SPOTTING:

The viewpoints are reachable by car and selected with safety in mind. Caution; some of the best spots may be inaccessible in winter conditions.

LIGHTHOUSES:

There are 27 lighthouses along the Arctic Coast Way, nine of which are reachable either by car or by hiking.

BEACHES:

There are countless beaches along the Arctic Coast Way and some of them are accessible with parking options for the car.

SEA STACK FORMATIONS:

Focus on locations with spectacular rock shapes and contours along cliffs and out at sea. Hvítserkur on Vatnsnes is the most famous of those – and there are several more to discover.

REST AREAS:

These are accessible by car and offer parking options to leave the car, enjoy the views and take photos. Several are equipped with tables and benches for taking a picnic while viewing the ocean.

Points of Interest along the Arctic Coast Way

Along the entire route, you will find places which invite you to stop the car, take a break to enjoy landscapes and connect to the specific wonders of the Arctic Coast Way. These Points of Interest include different categories:

LOCAL STORIES <https://www.arcticcoastway.is/en/stories>

Drangey | Trapped on Drangey island

Can you imagine being trapped on island like Drangey for a couple of days? Maybe even with very little food. Read the story from Viggó Jónsson who loves spending his time on the island.

"My name is Viggó Jónsson and I've hunted birds and collected eggs on Drangey island for more than 40 years. Hunting for food is a part of life.

Hunting has been practiced on the island, as a part of the "food chest of Skagafjörður" – as far back as anyone can remember. For a few weeks in the spring, around 200 people would live in tents at the beach, on the otherwise uninhabited island. They hunted birds and collected eggs and rowed out to catch fish in the fjord as well.

It was mostly the farmers from the surrounding countryside who took part in this labour because Sauðárkrúkur didn't become a proper town until after 1850. All winter long, people had eaten salted fish, pickled meat and other preserved food and so they were ecstatic when the farmers returned on their horses, bringing fresh food.

Hunting is still practiced on the island but on a much smaller scale. It is quite risky to collect eggs because you have to lower yourself down cliffs in ropes and sometimes there is rockfall.

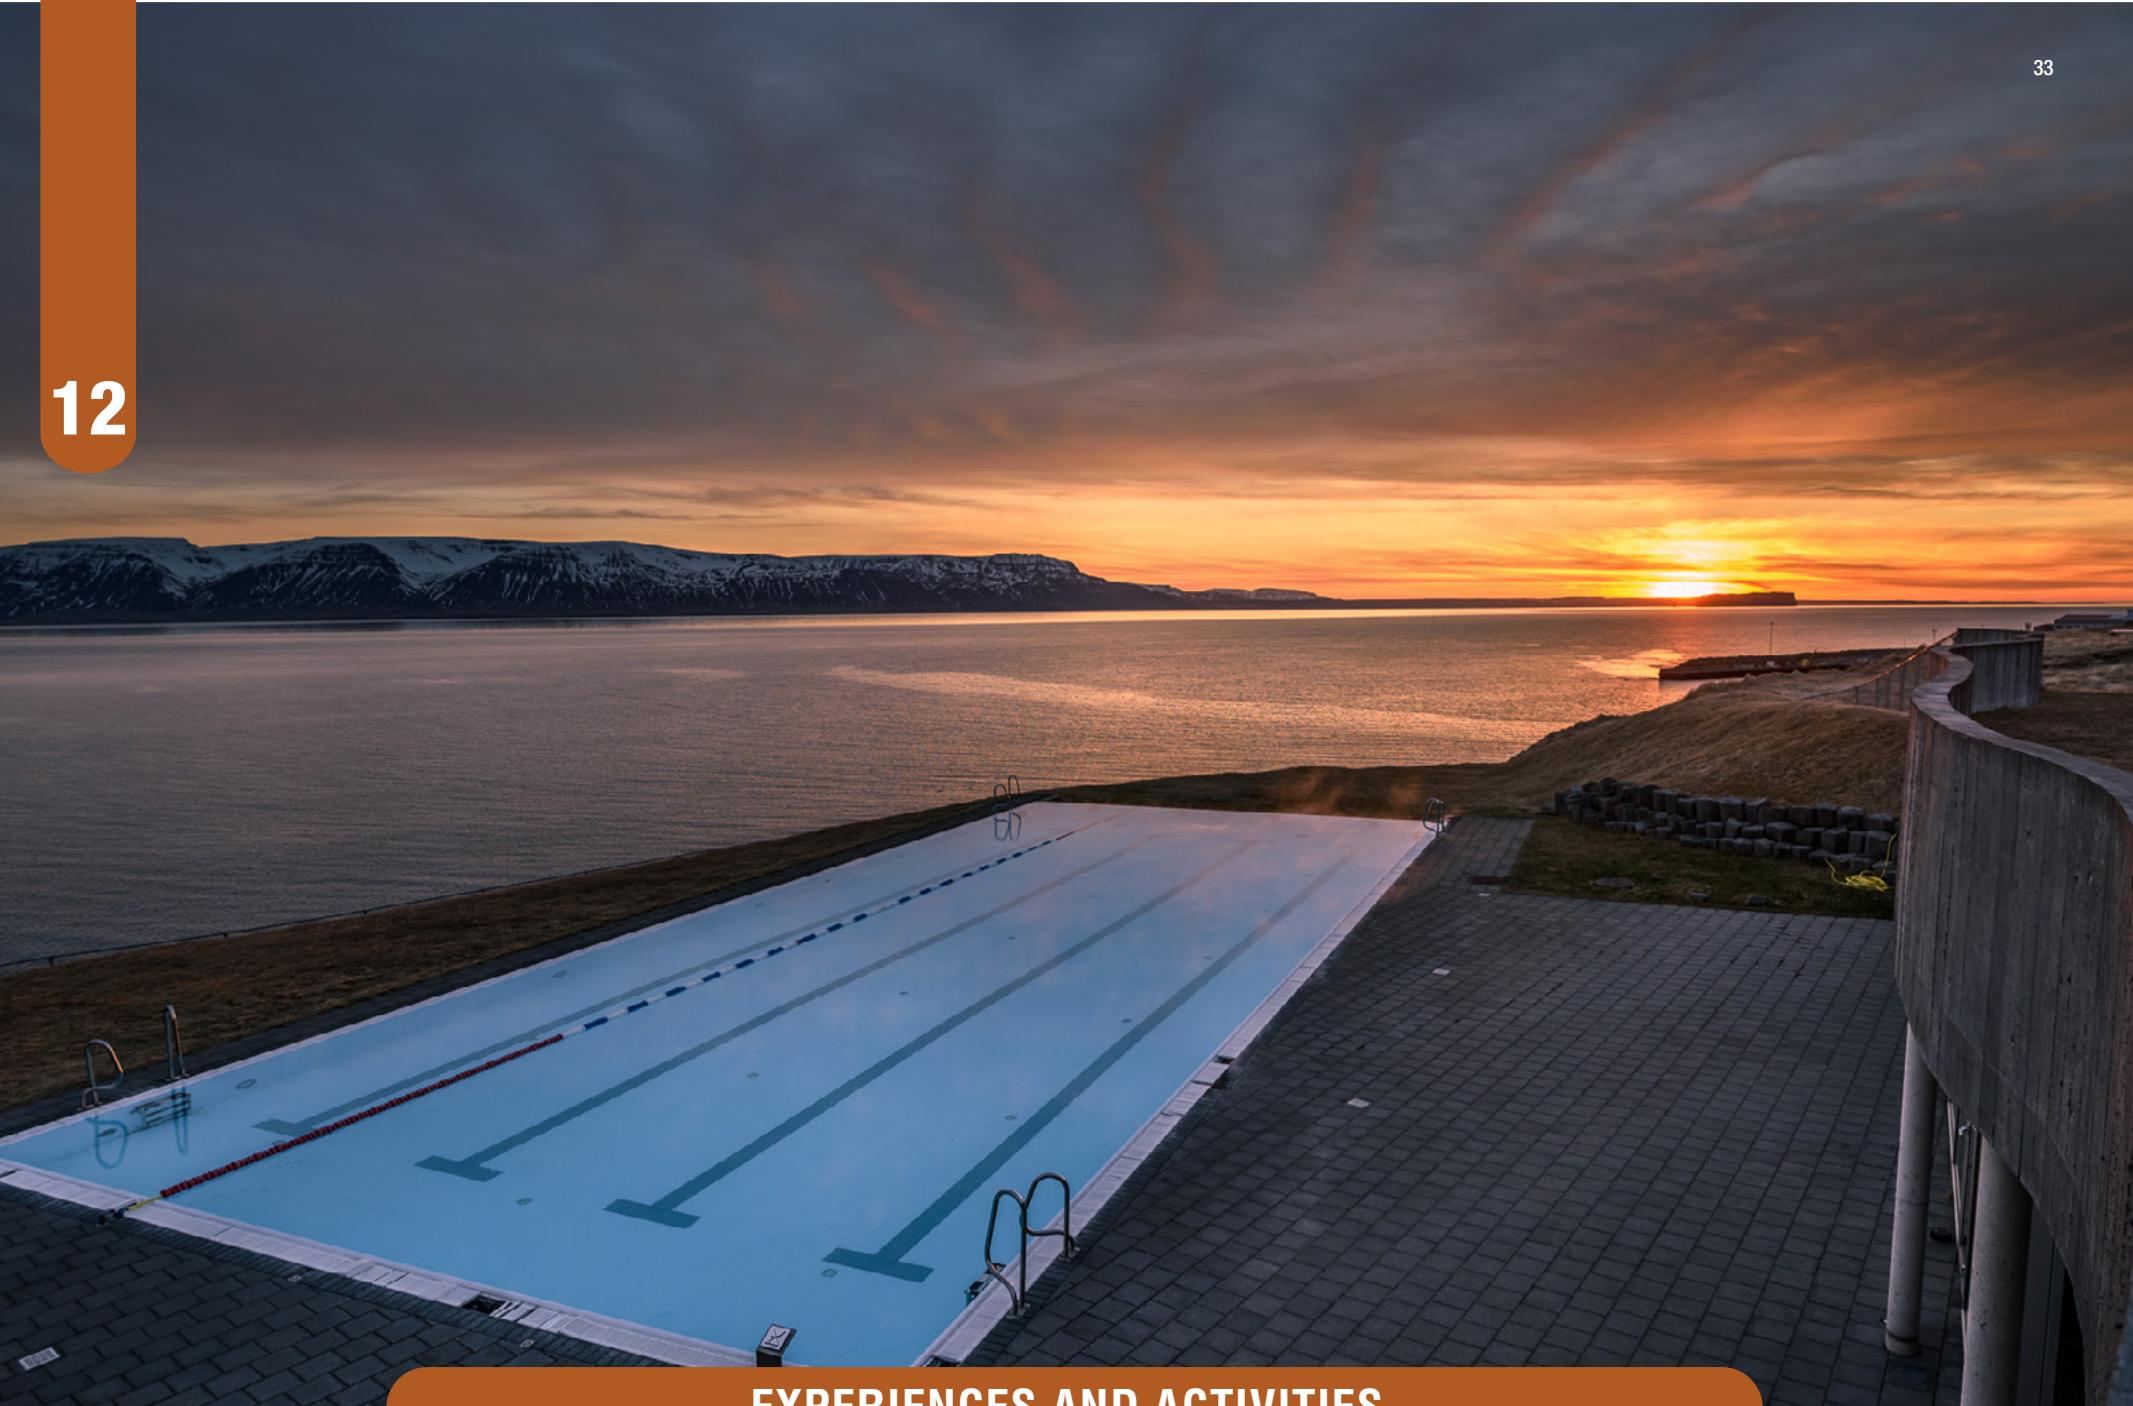

I have three children, two boys and a girl. They first started hunting for birds with me when they were around 6 years old.

The weather can change quickly and even though you can make it to the island it isn't a given that you can make it back home again. I have sometimes been weatherbound on Drangey for a few days. One time, I was there with my daughter, who was 11 at the time, and we were weatherbound for five days! The only thing we had left to eat were potatoes – but she didn't like potatoes. I made this fancy mash which was the best she had ever tasted and today still she talks about how good that mash was. It was a great adventure and the kids experienced it first-hand. Now that they're adults, these are the memories that stand out from their childhood.

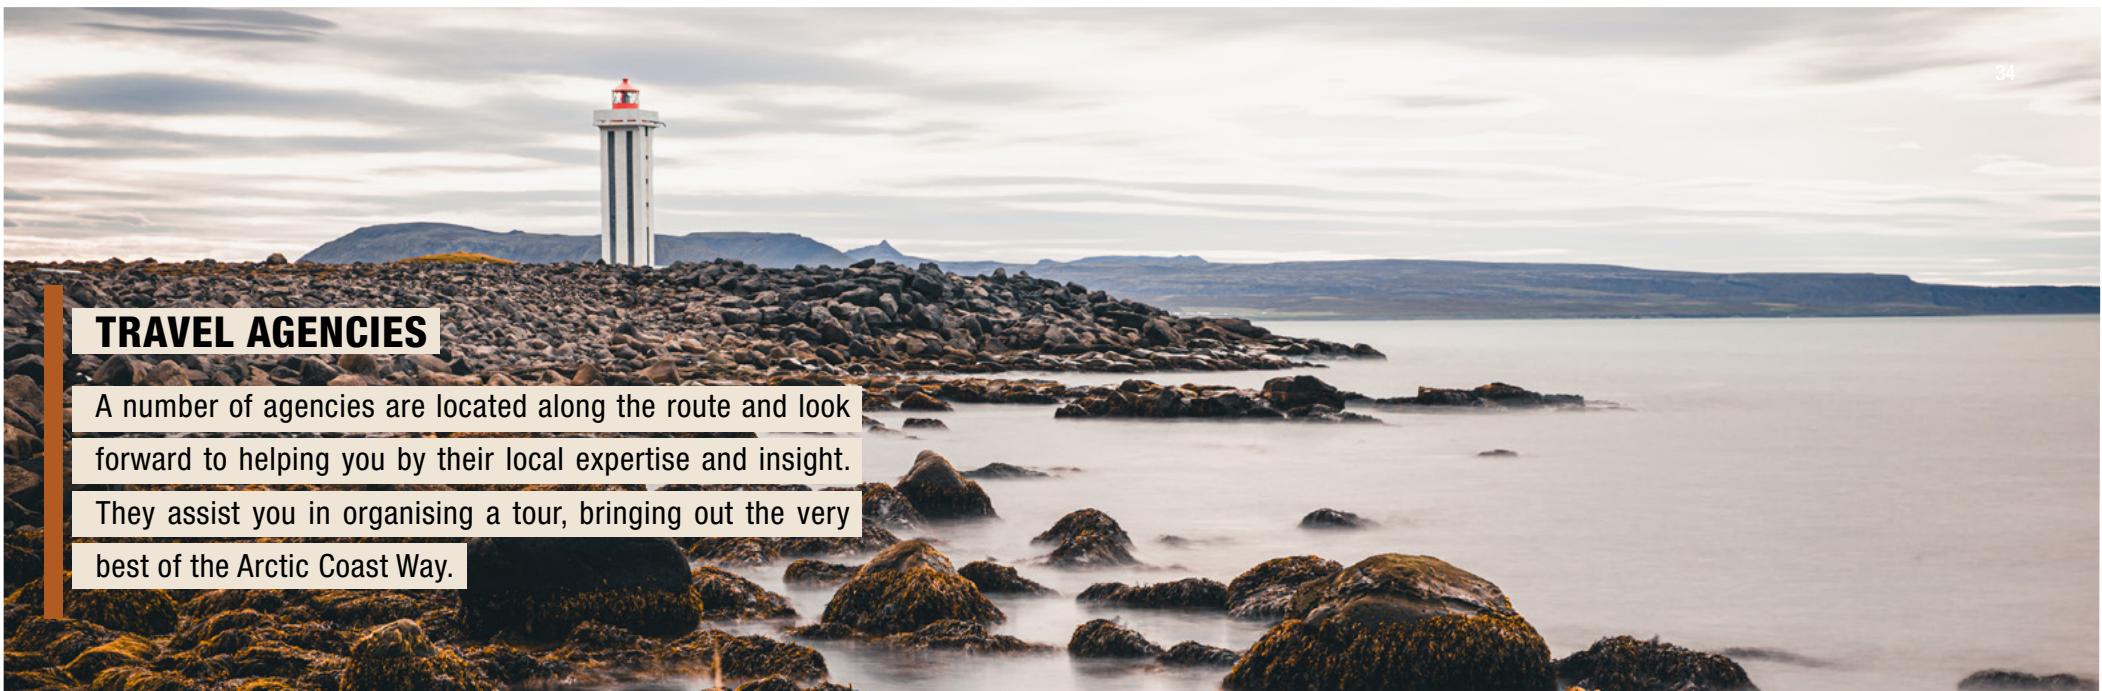

It also happened once when I took a German tourist with us to the island. He had planned to go there on a daytrip but ended up being stuck there with us for five days. After his stay with strangers on this deserted island, he returned a changed man with a new vision of hunting animals."

There is no better method to experience the Arctic Coast Way than leaving the car and immersing yourself in the unspoiled nature or cultural sites along the route. The list of experiences and activities offers options for all tastes!

SPECIALIZED DAY TOURS

Several tour operators along the Arctic Coast Way can help you with specialized day-tours to specific topics like birding, geology or cultural events, but also for various outdoor activities.

MIDNIGHT SUN TOURS

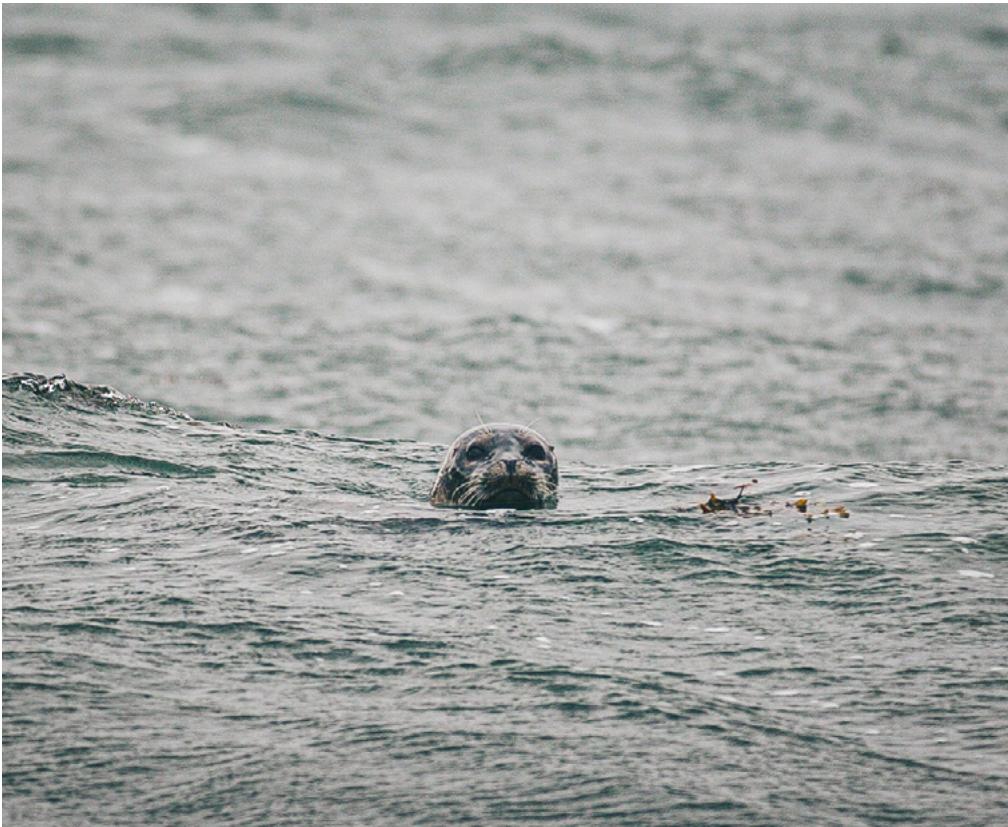

The midnight sun is one of the wonders the Arctic regions offer their visitors. The warm golden light can be discovered on your own, especially from the "Arctic Coast Way Midnight Sun" viewpoints but you should not miss the magic and tranquillity experienced on the guided midnight sun tours, during hikes, kayak tours or whale watching tours.

NORTHERN LIGHT TOURS

From September to April is the time to see the dancing lights of Aurora Borealis. Their splendour is best seen in absolute darkness. Guided tours take you to those places and also ensure your safety in snowy conditions. No matter whether on tours by car or on a sailing boat the magic is always the same.

WHALE WATCHING

The coast of North Iceland offers magnificent options to encounter the friendly giants of the ocean. Humpback whales are the most common species, but there are many more varieties and even the giant of the oceans, the blue whale, is a regular guest here in the North. Most whales visit north Iceland during the summer, but we also have a large number of permanent residents. There are modes of sailing to suit every taste, for example traditional old oak boats, zodiacs and closed boats with options to sit inside.

BOAT TOURS

Leaving the mainland by a variety of boat tours offers a splendid option to experience the shores of the Arctic Coast Way from a new perspective, thus revealing new hidden gems. Most of the tours connect with the charming islands along the Arctic Coast Way, beckoning visitors to explore their rich birdlife, amazing nature wonders and each one offering individual stories of remote life close to the Arctic Circle.

GUIDED HIKES

There are countless options for hikes along the route of the Arctic Coast Way. Many are marked, although a large number is unmarked as yet, but nevertheless easy to follow as they trace their way through the landscape. We highly recommend going on hikes with a guided tour where an experienced guide will show you the way through hidden trails, help in difficult landscapes and tell you countless stories of nature and culture along the trails.

HORSEBACK TOURS

Without the strong Icelandic horses there would probably have been no settlement in Iceland. These amazing animals are still close to the Icelandic way of life and there is no better option to connect to tradition and experience nature at the same time. A tour along the shore or even on a black sand beach is a very special experience.

BIRDING AND PUFFIN TOURS

The Arctic Coast Way includes some of the best birding locations in Iceland which are part of the Birding Trail (find more information here: www.northiceland.is/birding). You can either stop at the birding locations yourself or go on a guided birding tour. The best places to see the puffins are Drangey Island, Grímsey Island, Lundey Island and Langanes. It is also an unforgettable experience to observe the arctic gannets on Langanes and the handsome harlequin ducks in Blönduós. These are just some few examples of the rich birdlife along the Arctic Coast Way.

KAYAKING

There are several options to discover the coast along the Arctic Coast Way, for example on a guided Kayak Tour. Being out on the ocean offers a new perspective to nature along the shore and you can reach places which are not accessible by car or hikes. The clear waters around Iceland allow deep views into the ocean. You can encounter sea birds – and maybe even dolphins or whales.

ARCTIC SNORKELLING

Snorkelling in the ocean by the Arctic island of Grímsey is a unique experience. The ocean has been a rich fishing ground for centuries and the area around the island is full of life with a great kelp forest on the bottom, the home of many different fish such as cod, haddock, star fish, plaice and pollock. The puffins and whales are usually not far away either. But keep in mind, puffins are summer guests and come to Iceland about the middle of April – the middle of August.

ARCTIC DIVING

Diving in the ocean by Grímsey Island is an exciting way to discover the magnificent surroundings below the surface. Experience the wonders of fauna and flora in this hidden world at the Arctic Circle.

JET SKIING

An adventurous way to experience spectacular views of the coast around Ólafsfjörður. The tours take you through unspoiled nature past the headland of Ólafsfjardarmúli and Hvannadalabjarg, the highest precipice in Iceland.

SEA ANGLING

Experience the exciting feeling of catching your own meal on the North Atlantic Ocean. The distance to the rich fishing grounds is pretty short. Angling connects you to fishing as an important part of life in Iceland and offers the option to try the great quality of Icelandic fish. Check out the tours from various operators; some connect angling with whale watching, others offer options to prepare your catch in restaurants in towns, or even with locals.

WOOL & KNITTING

Sheep's wool is an important traditional product in Iceland and Icelanders still love to wear their woollen sweaters. You can learn all about this fascinating natural material and how to process it.

SPA & WELLNESS

Iceland's peaceful and pure nature gives the perfect frame for various offers in the field of Spa, Wellness, Wellbeing and Yoga. The landscapes, the clean air and water and the sound of silence invite everyone to slow down and to recharge your batteries.

BEST HIKES ALONG THE ARCTIC COAST WAY

There are endless options for hiking tours along the Arctic Coast Way. This is the perfect way to immerse oneself in unspoiled nature, to experience the sounds of nature or even the opposite, the absolute silence, a gift of nature which, sadly, has been lost in our modern time. Most of the recommended hikes are accessible to persons with normal to good physical fitness and the landscape is well suited for walking. For some hikes, we strongly recommend a local guide, as the trails follow difficult landscapes and need special attention and orientation.

COAST OF SAGAS AND MYTHOLOGY

Hrútey island and the river Blanda | Blönduós

Short hikes on excellent footpaths invite you to discover a wide variety of vegetation and an abundant birdlife. Hrútey Island is an excellent place just to stop and take a break as there is a clearing with benches and picnic tables.

Sea Cliff Bolabás | Blönduós

A short and easy hike takes you from the harbor along the coast to a number of pretty sea cliffs. At the end you reach the cliff of Bolabás. The tour offers amazing views over the bay with the mountains of the Westfjords on the horizon.

Mount Spákonufell | Skagaströnd

The mountain is 639m high and the trail is marked. The North Route starts at road 745 near the crossroads to Skagaströnd. The entire walking distance is 7 km. The summit offers magnificent views over Skagi peninsula and the ocean.

Spákonufellshöfði | Skagaströnd

A beautiful coastal walk of about 2 km that starts near the harbour of Skagaströnd. The trails are marked.

Kálfshamarsvík | Northwest coast of Skagi

An interesting short walk takes visitors through the ruins of the once flourishing settlement of Kálfshamarsvík and to the lighthouse. The cliffs display spectacular basalt columns.

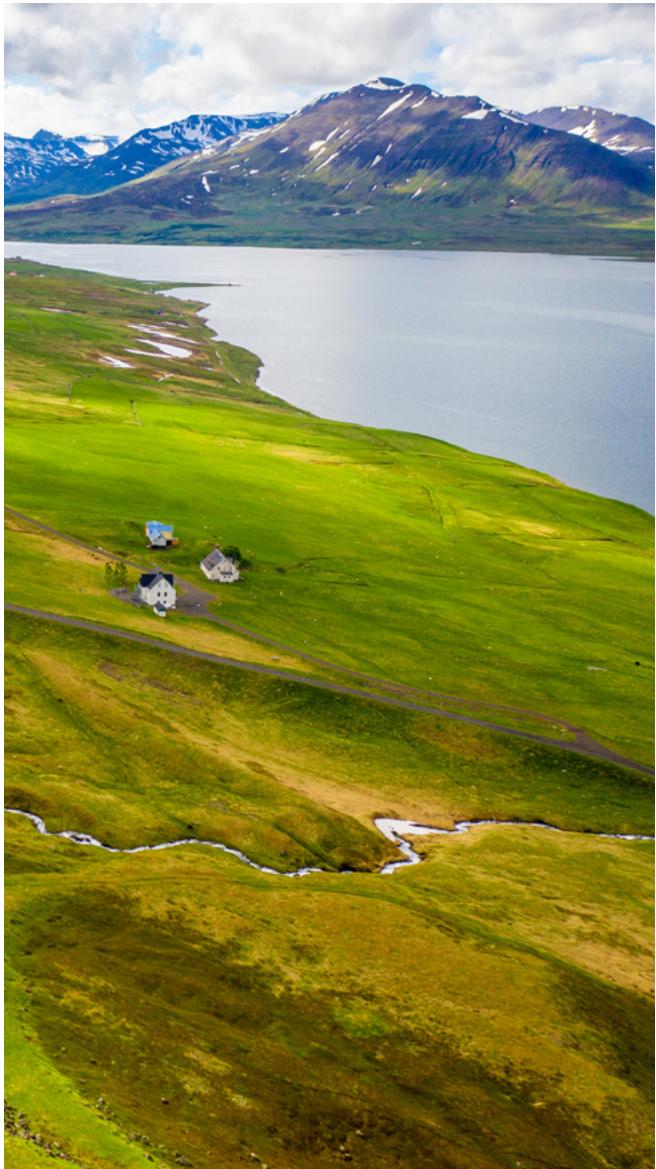

Mountain Tindastóll | Sauðárkrúkur

A marked trail leads up the 650m high mountain that offers stunning views over Skagafjörður bay. Hiking distance is about 6 km and the trail starts at road 744 where a sign points to the parking lot.

Hegranes lighthouse | Sauðárkrúkur

A short and easy hike of about 4 km takes you to the Hegranes lighthouse. It is a very charming place and offers amazing views over the long black beach near Sauðárkrúkur and the beautiful fjord of Skagafjörður with all its islands and the high mountains on either side.

true nature

Selvíkurviti | Siglufjörður

This easy hike follows the coast on the opposite side of Siglufjörður to the lighthouse of Selvíkurviti. The entire hiking distance is about 5 km.

Héðinsfjörður | Fjord between Siglufjörður and Ólafsfjörður

Before the tunnels were opened, Héðinsfjörður was one of the most remote fjords and hard to reach. Now a marked trail starts right at the parking area on road 76, and the round trip is about 5 km. The hike can be described as easy and takes visitors through a beautiful fjord and along a lake to a beach strewn with driftwood.

Melrakkadalur | Dalvík

An easy, scenic hike of 2 km takes the visitor to the small "Fox-Valley" with extensive views over the area around Dalvík.

Böggvistaðafjall | Dalvík

This mountain is part of a natural resort. The marked hike starts at the church in Dalvík and the entire route is 8 km long. The highest point reaches 778m and offers fantastic views over Dalvík, the fjord of Eyjafjörður and Hrísey Island.

Siglufjarðarskarð

Ascend the historic road to Siglufjarðarskarð for sweeping panoramic views over Fljótin and Siglufjörður. Then follow the gentle, postal route to the coast.

Hrísey Island

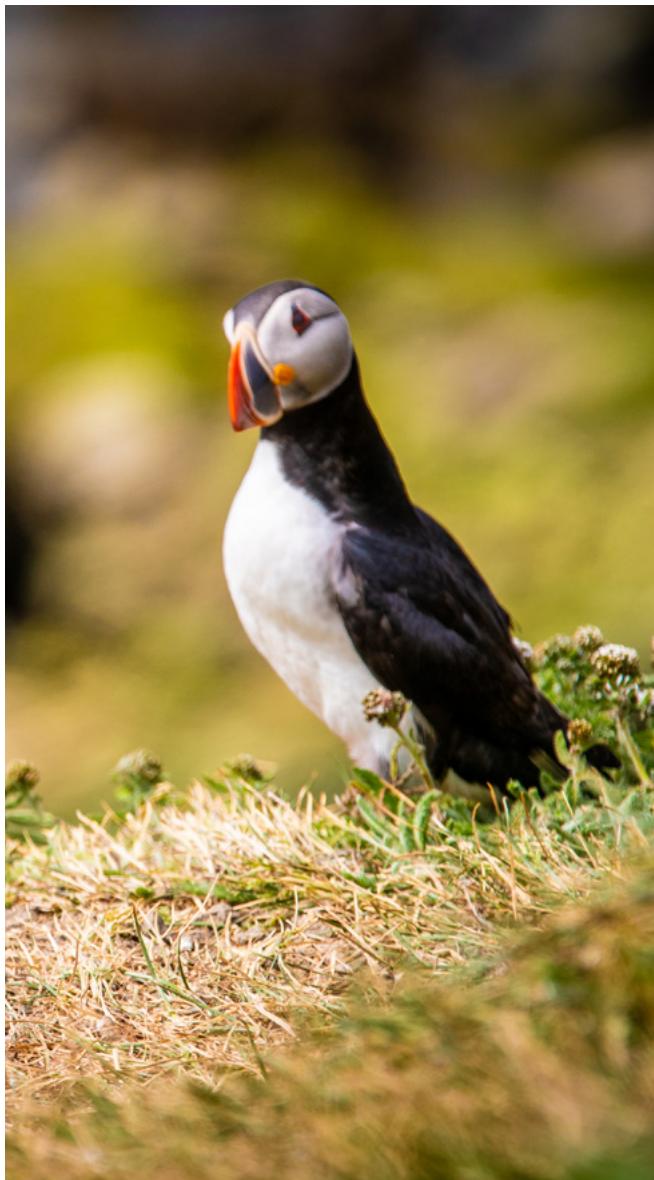

There are several marked circle trails on the island guiding visitors to unspoiled nature spots with a rich birdlife and opening up amazing views toward the high mountains on either side of Eyjafjörður. The trails are between 2.3 km and 5 km and start in the island's small fishing village.

Grímsey Island

Several easy trails of varying lengths start in the island's small village, offering visitors the option to cross the Arctic Circle and see the sculpture "Orbis et Globus". This trail is 3.8 km. The longest trail circles the whole island, giving endless opportunities to encounter puffins and discover the steep cliffs on the North side of the island.

Súlur | Akureyri

Súlur, known as Akureyri's "town mountain," rises prominently to the southwest of the town. A popular hiking trail leads to its peaks, featuring steep sections and boggy terrain.

Krossanesborgir | Akureyri

Several easy hikes along marked circular paths guide the visitor through this natural reserve near Akureyri. This location is characterised by numerous basalt rock formations, about 5-10 million years old. Rich vegetation finds shelter in amongst these rocks – around 200 different plant species. The area is also inhabited by diverse birdlife – over 27 different bird species, or about 35% of the total number of avian species in Iceland have been found to nest here.

Þengilhöfði | Grenivík

This small headland provides magnificent views over Eyjafjörður. A short hiking loop of about 4 km starts at Höfðabrekka near the town of Grenivík and leads up to the peak of 275 m altitude.

the perfect way to immerse oneself in unspoiled nature

Laufáshnjúkur | Kræðufell | Ystuvíkurfjall

Right behind Laufás Turf House Museum are several peaks that offer incredible views. Two hikes lead to Laufáshnjúkur (674m) and Ystuvíkurfjall (572m). Experienced hikers in prime physical condition can tackle a long hike (about 17km) starting at Laufás and including the three neighbouring peaks, Laufáshnjúkur, Kræðufell (747m) and Ystuvíkurfjall. Participants need to organise a pick-up for the return journey to Laufás or book a guided tour.

Mount Kaldbakur | Grenivík

This mountain, rising up behind Grenivík, is suitable for experienced hikers only, or with a guided tour, as the peak towers up to 1177m and includes several dangerous and exposed alpine rock cliffs.

Húsavíkurfjall | Húsavík

Comfortable hiking route leading up the mountain beside Húsavík along a solid but steep car track. Stunning views of the scenery around Húsavík and Skjálfandaflói bay. The return tour is 6 km.

Eyjan Ásbyrgi

The hiking route leads from the camping ground in Ásbyrgi on to the steep hill in the centre of the horseshoe canyon which was an island during floods that washed away the surrounding ground some 3000 years ago. The route is 5 km in length.

Snartarstaðanúpur | near Kópasker

An easy route with 2 x 3 km distance goes from Hvallág up along the cliff to Mígindishnúta, leaving only a short, though fairly strenuous, way to the peak. Although only 284 m high, the summit provides an expansive view, in good visibility even to Grímsey island. It is possible to continue south down the mountain. Across easy terrain one can walk all the way to Kópasker (6.5 km). With sheltered spots and holes through cliffs, the shoreline south of Hvalvík is beautiful, but care needs to be taken in some places to avoid being stranded by the tide.

Raufarhöfn

Two short marked footpaths invite the visitor to discover Iceland's northernmost village; one leads to the lighthouse on Höfði headland and the other takes you up to Ásinn ridge where pausing at a rest stop provides a panoramic view of Raufarhöfn and Þistilfjörður.

Fossá | near Þórshöfn

It is an easy walk from the water tanks on Brekknahæiði south to Fossá river and following its course down to the highway. Superb view over the village and Þistilfjörður.

Hrollaugastaðir to Skálar | East coast of Langanes

For about 15 km the trail follows the amazing coastline of east Langanes with sunbathing seals, bird cliffs, a graveyard and the ruins of old farms; also, perhaps, a chance of spotting whales. The trail terminates at the abandoned village of Skálar. Ytra Lón Farm Lodge offers pick-ups and drop-offs with a stopover at the bird-cliffs of Skoruvík.

absolute silence

COAST OF ELEMENTAL NATURE

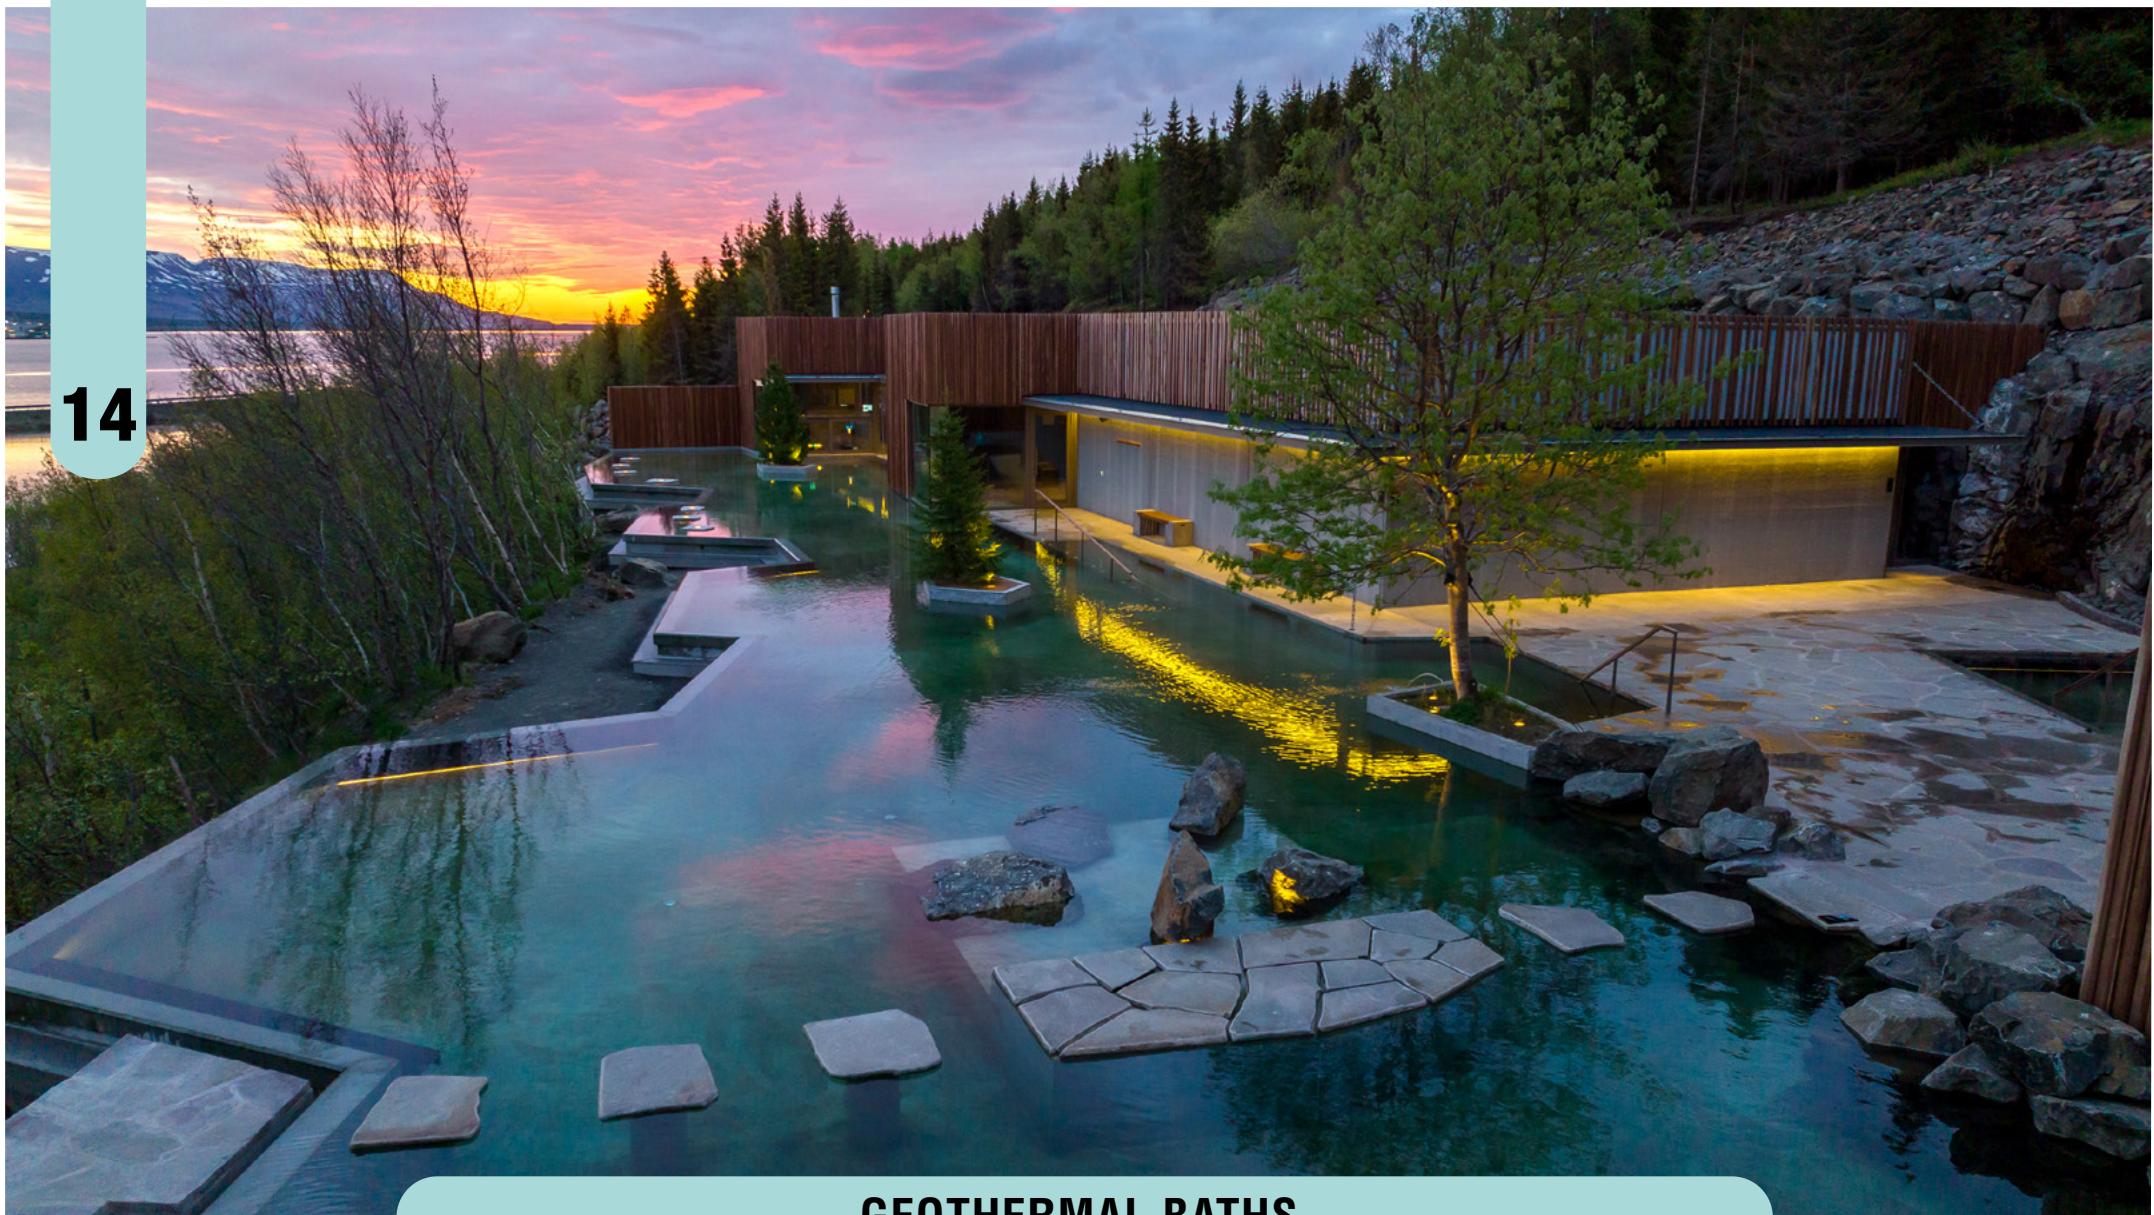

Langanes and surroundings

The owners of Ytra-Lón Farm Lodge offer a 5 day package tour with hikes to the hidden gems of Langanes and its surroundings. A perfect way to enjoy the scenery and become acquainted with the way of life in these parts, guided by local people.

Rauðanes | in Þistilfjörður between Raufarhöfn and Þórhöfn

Numerous beautiful rock formations, sea stacks and cliffs are found around the peninsula Rauðanes. An easy marked hike circles the peninsula. The loop is about 6km.

GEOTHERMAL BATHS

No matter what the season or weather, taking a break in the hot geothermal waters of the swimming pools and the natural pools all along the Arctic Coast Way is not only an amazing way to relax and gather energy, but also an important part of experiencing the daily life of people living so close to the Arctic Circle.

Please familiarise yourself with opening times as they differ from village to village and from season to season.

ACCOMMODATION

You will find accommodation of all categories along the Arctic Coast Way, although availability of hotels is limited in some areas. Guesthouses and farm accommodations offer not only an individual atmosphere, but also the option to establish contact with owners and local people. In remoter areas accommodation is not open all year round, therefore please contact in advance to request the options to stay. Most providers are willing to open to receive groups even when officially closed.

Please find more detailed information on www.arcticcoastway.is and the provider's homepage.

FOOD & DRINK AND FOOD EXPERIENCES

Icelandic food stands for pure and fresh ingredients and you should not miss out on delicious meals with fresh fish, lamb and vegetables from Iceland. Several places also offer the option to experience traditional Icelandic meals which gives a special insight into the way of life here in North Iceland.

For dining with groups, we recommend contacting the establishment in question in advance to ensure availability and opening times. North Iceland takes pride in its growing numbers of micro-breweries and you should not miss out on tasting the local beers!

Please find more detailed information about menus and opening times on www.arcticcoastway.is and on the providers' homepages.

CULTURAL HIGHLIGHTS & MUSEUMS

You should not miss the many opportunities to experience the various aspects of cultural life along the Arctic Coast Way. The rough land and the cold ocean strongly influenced the way of living here close to the Arctic Circle – and still do. Most of the places offer a guided tour for groups. Please book your tour in advance to ensure a guide is available.

TOWNS AND VILLAGES OF THE ARCTIC COAST WAY

Even though the Arctic Coast Way connects to unspoiled and wild nature, visitors will encounter 21 towns and villages all along the route, each with its own character and individual stories to tell. They are all witness to a different way of life far out in the North. Not all villages offer restaurants and coffee houses all year round but most are very willing to welcome groups in the off-peak season if booked in advance.

ACCESS TO THE ARCTIC COAST WAY

There are several options to access and travel the Arctic Coast Way. The entire route can, for example be included in the circle around Iceland along Highway 1. We recommend, however, considering a tour with a focus on North Iceland. You can easily combine the Arctic Coast Way with a detour along the Diamond Circle, a detour to the highlands or many other highlights of North Iceland and thus complete a perfect two-week programme without hitting the same road twice.

AIRPORTS ALONG THE ROUTE

There are 3 airports along the route: Akureyri, Húsavík and Þórshöfn. Two airports are apart from the route, Vopnafjörður and Egilsstaðir, but are good gateways to quickly reach the route.

FERRY TO SEYÐISFJÖRDUR

Taking your car on the ferry Norrøna from Denmark via the Faroe Islands to East Iceland is a convenient method of accessing the Arctic Coast Way .

CAR RENTALS ALONG THE ROUTE

Our partner Höldur Europcar offers car rental stations in several places along the Arctic Coast Way: Þórshöfn, Húsavík, Akureyri, Siglufjörður, Sauðárkrúkur.

There are also other car rentals in Keflavík, Egilsstaðir and Vopnafjörður which can be used as gateways to the route.

OPTIONS TO ACCESS THE ARCTIC COAST WAY

- Bringing your own car to Seyðisfjörður and reaching the Arctic Coast Way in Bakkafjörður
- Driving around Iceland along Highway 1 and accessing the Arctic Coast Way as a detour in Bakkafjörður or Hvammstangi
- Taking a flight to Egilsstaðir, Þórshöfn or Vopnafjörður, renting a car and reaching the Arctic Coast Way at its east end; then dropping the car off in Keflavík
- Adding the Diamond Circle by a detour to the Arctic Coast Way
- Taking a flight to Akureyri or Húsavík and completing a large figure of eight ∞-loop including the Arctic Coast Way and almost all other highlights in the North.
- Fly directly to Akureyri international airport – more info: <https://www.northiceland.is/en/travel-info/how-to-get-around/direct-flights-to-north-iceland>

ITINERARIES FOR THE ARCTIC COAST WAY

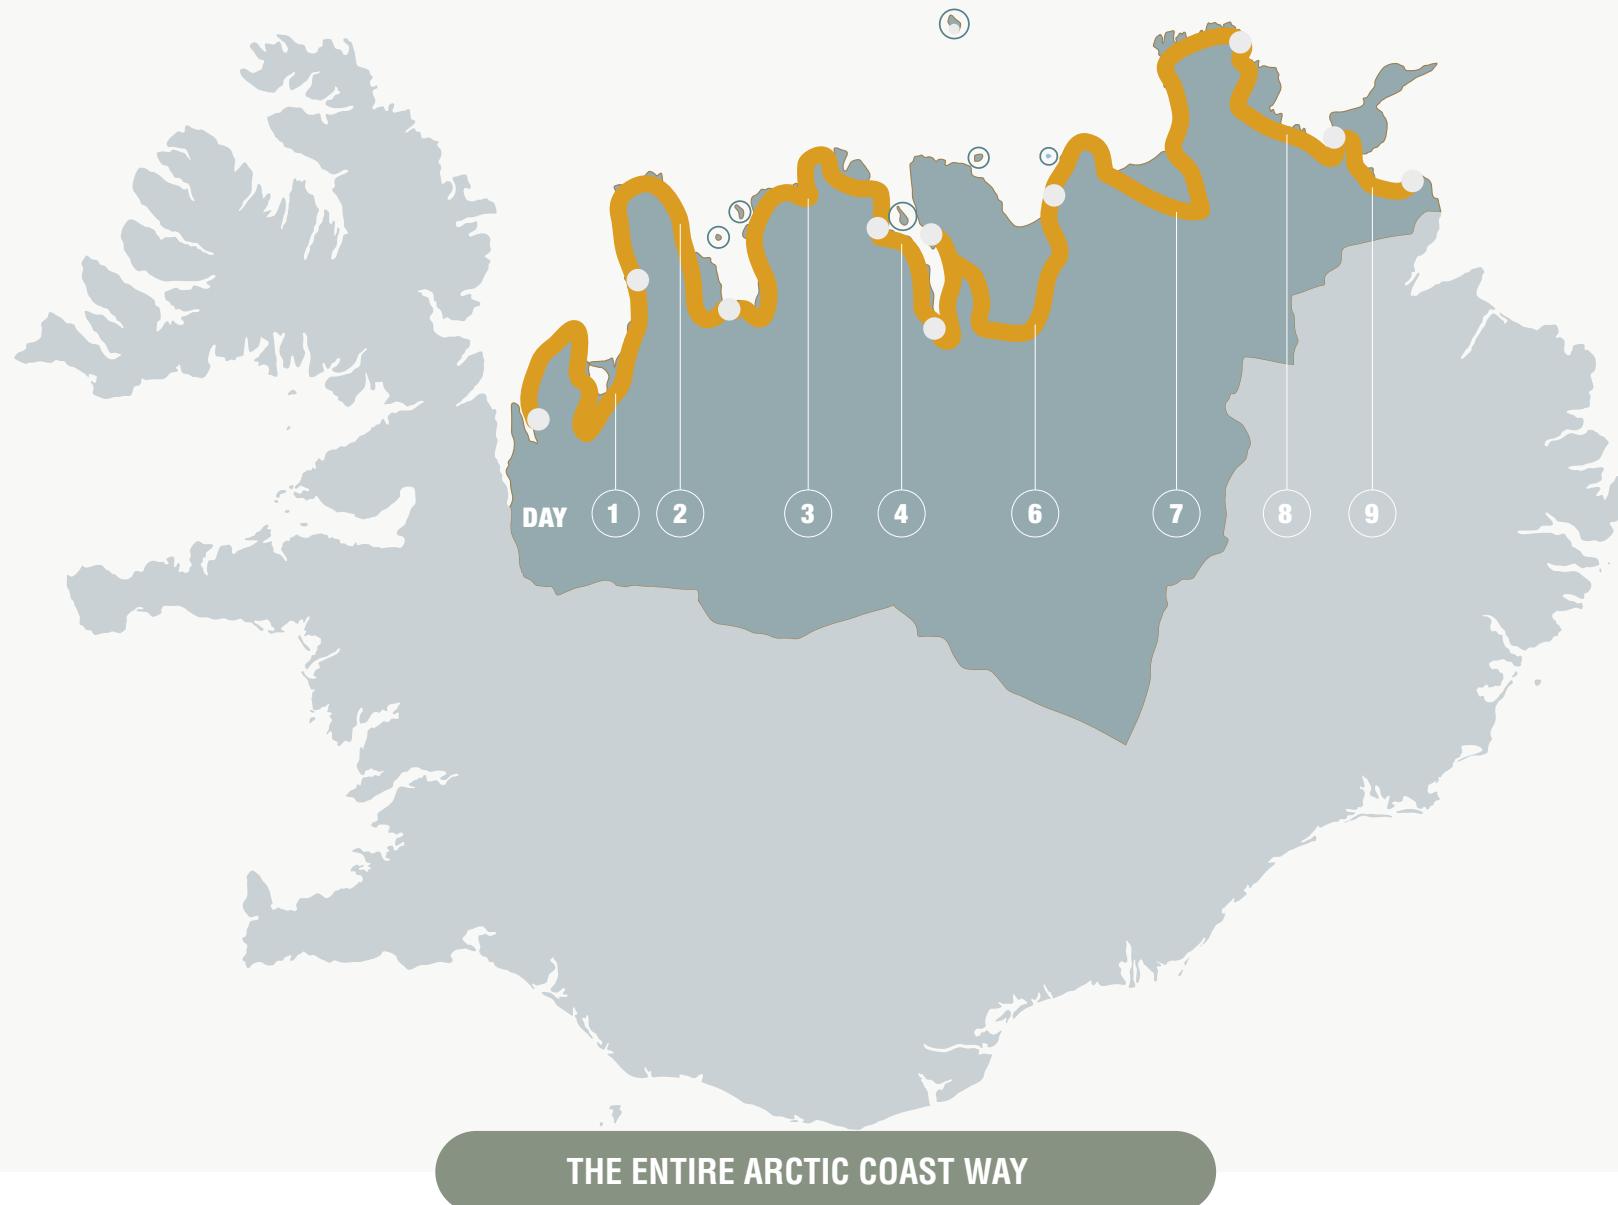

Give yourself ample time when you plan a trip along the Arctic Coast Way. The varied conditions of the Arctic Coast Way, the roads, the weather and remoteness, call for a flexible schedule. Experiencing the entire route and its islands will take about 12 days.

Spring, autumn and winter are beautiful seasons to discover the Arctic Coast Way. But as snow can fall in these seasons you must be aware of challenging weather and road conditions and give your schedule flexibility. In snowy conditions it is not possible to travel the entire Arctic Coast Way, but you can follow the winter route alternative!

Please check out the map to the route for snowy weather in chapter 5.

The suggested itineraries and timeframes are calculated on the basis of road distance and stops along the route. When you plan to visit the islands, you need to add extra time. There are countless options to enjoy various outdoor activities and cultural experiences along your route to really immerse yourself in the magic of the Arctic Coast Way. Please adjust your schedule accordingly.

The following suggestion starts from the west. For coming from the east, please just turn the days around.

A wide-angle aerial photograph of a coastal landscape. A long, narrow, grassy peninsula extends from the left side of the frame towards the right, ending in a sharp, dark, rocky cliff. A small, white lighthouse with a red top stands on the grassy slope near the edge of the cliff. A single, winding road follows the coastline, starting from the left and curving along the edge of the cliff. The ocean is visible on the right, with white-capped waves crashing against the base of the cliff. The sky is filled with scattered, wispy clouds. In the far distance, a range of mountains is visible across the horizon.

DIGITAL FOOTPRINT & MEDIA

Since its opening in June 2019, the Arctic Coast Way has experienced a huge interest in the media:

Sunday Times, The Metro, Telegraph, National Geographic, Die Zeit, Financial Times, Guardian, Terra and many many more have already written about this amazing new driving route.

“You can go hours without seeing another car, and it doesn't escape my attention that one lapse of judgment could result in us plopping into the sea completely unnoticed. But at the same time, this is the route's big plus. Pull up and explore the coastline – maybe to check out an alien rock formation or watch a herd of seals bobbing by a black sand beach – and the tranquility is overwhelming. Stand still for even a second and everything drops away but the sea, the breeze and the terns that flit about unbothered in the sky....”

STUART HERITAGE EasyJet June 2019

“If luxury travel these days is escaping other humans, then losing a phone signal and being at one with your thoughts amid spectacular scenery, the Arctic Coast Way is luxurious indeed.”
