The Icelandic Seal Center, Hvammstangi - Tel: 451 2345 www.northiceland.is We recommend two websites with good information on the information visit in the Northwest during nesting or migration periods. This map birds and waders. Eider ducks in large colonies, Arctic Tern, Atlantic wetlands that offer the ideal habitat for many species of marshland Long-tailed Duck, waders, and geese. The area has accessible abundance of species as summer but still provides the Gyr Falcon, daylight, Iceland is teeming with bird activities which allows you to Atlantic Puffin, Fulmars and other sea and cliff birds.

For further information on birds that have been spotted in Iceland, Atlantic. These include birds common in northern regions of Europe areas and still keep on the trail, ideal for those with little time but through the Northwest, guiding bird lovers through areas rich in

Please note that the road on Vatnsnes is gravel and can get bumpy.
illuminated by a fairly bright light, and a dirty street sign. Please note husk of the area to

as Wren, Goldcrest and Redpoll can be seen. Many waders breed in attendance of the thousands of birds.

15. Kolkuós – Elínarhólmi

16. Húfuvíti – Ólafskékkur

17. Fjöllum

During day and night, you may see the sweet café. About 4.5 miles

This track will take you to the river itself. This area is rich in

around the area as well as Barrow’s Golden Plover, White Stork, Purple

Birds that have been spotted at Flóðið include waders and the birds popular for moulting birds.

This location has disability access and a hut with information material and binoculars.

Illugastaðir beach to feed. At the end of the trail at Illugastaðir you will

10. Drangavatn

The lake is surrounded by a vast stretch of marshland, which

Species Chart*

Great Northern
Diver
-

Greylag
Goose
-

Mallard
-

Atlantic. These include birds common in northern regions of Europe
areas and still keep on the trail, ideal for those with little time but
through the Northwest, guiding bird lovers through areas rich in

Please note that the road on Vatnsnes is gravel and can get bumpy.
illuminated by a fairly bright light, and a dirty street sign. Please note
husk of the area to

as Wren, Goldcrest and Redpoll can be seen. Many waders breed
in attendance of the thousands of birds.

15. Kolkuós – Elínarhólmi

16. Húfuvíti – Ólafskékkur

17. Fjöllum

During day and night, you may see the sweet café. About 4.5 miles

This track will take you to the river itself. This area is rich in

around the area as well as Barrow’s Golden Plover, White Stork, Purple

Birds that have been spotted at Flóðið include waders and the birds
popular for moulting birds.

This location has disability access and a hut with information
material and binoculars.

Illugastaðir beach to feed. At the end of the trail at Illugastaðir you will

10. Drangavatn

The lake is surrounded by a vast stretch of marshland, which

Species Chart*

Great
Northern
Diver
-

Greylag
Goose
-

Mallard
-

Atlantic. These include birds common in northern regions of Europe
areas and still keep on the trail, ideal for those with little time but
through the Northwest, guiding bird lovers through areas rich in

Please note that the road on Vatnsnes is gravel and can get bumpy.
illuminated by a fairly bright light, and a dirty street sign. Please note
husk of the area to

as Wren, Goldcrest and Redpoll can be seen. Many waders breed
in attendance of the thousands of birds.

15. Kolkuós – Elínarhólmi

16. Húfuvíti – Ólafskékkur

17. Fjöllum

During day and night, you may see the sweet café. About 4.5 miles

This track will take you to the river itself. This area is rich in

around the area as well as Barrow’s Golden Plover, White Stork, Purple

Birds that have been spotted at Flóðið include waders and the birds
popular for moulting birds.

This location has disability access and a hut with information
material and binoculars.

Illugastaðir beach to feed. At the end of the trail at Illugastaðir you will

10. Drangavatn

The lake is surrounded by a vast stretch of marshland, which

Species Chart*

Great
Northern
Diver
-

Greylag
Goose
-

Mallard
-

Atlantic. These include birds common in northern regions of Europe
areas and still keep on the trail, ideal for those with little time but
through the Northwest, guiding bird lovers through areas rich in

Please note that the road on Vatnsnes is gravel and can get bumpy.
illuminated by a fairly bright light, and a dirty street sign. Please note
husk of the area to

as Wren, Goldcrest and Redpoll can be seen. Many waders breed
in attendance of the thousands of birds.

15. Kolkuós – Elínarhólmi

16. Húfuvíti – Ólafskékkur

17. Fjöllum

During day and night, you may see the sweet café. About 4.5 miles

This track will take you to the river itself. This area is rich in

around the area as well as Barrow’s Golden Plover, White Stork, Purple

Birds that have been spotted at Flóðið include waders and the birds
popular for moulting birds.

This location has disability access and a hut with information
material and binoculars.

Illugastaðir beach to feed. At the end of the trail at Illugastaðir you will

10. Drangavatn

The lake is surrounded by a vast stretch of marshland, which

Species Chart*

Great
Northern
Diver
-

Greylag
Goose
-

Mallard
-

Atlantic. These include birds common in northern regions of Europe
areas and still keep on the trail, ideal for those with little time but
through the Northwest, guiding bird lovers through areas rich in

Please note that the road on Vatnsnes is gravel and can get bumpy.
illuminated by a fairly bright light, and a dirty street sign. Please note
husk of the area to

as Wren, Goldcrest and Redpoll can be seen. Many waders breed
in attendance of the thousands of birds.

15. Kolkuós – Elínarhólmi

16. Húfuvíti – Ólafskékkur

17. Fjöllum

During day and night, you may see the sweet café. About 4.5 miles

This track will take you to the river itself. This area is rich in

around the area as well as Barrow’s Golden Plover, White Stork, Purple

Birds that have been spotted at Flóðið include waders and the birds
popular for moulting birds.

This location has disability access and a hut with information
material and binoculars.

Illugastaðir beach to feed. At the end of the trail at Illugastaðir you will

10. Drangavatn

The lake is surrounded by a vast stretch of marshland, which

Species Chart*

Great
Northern
Diver
-

Greylag
Goose
-

Mallard
-